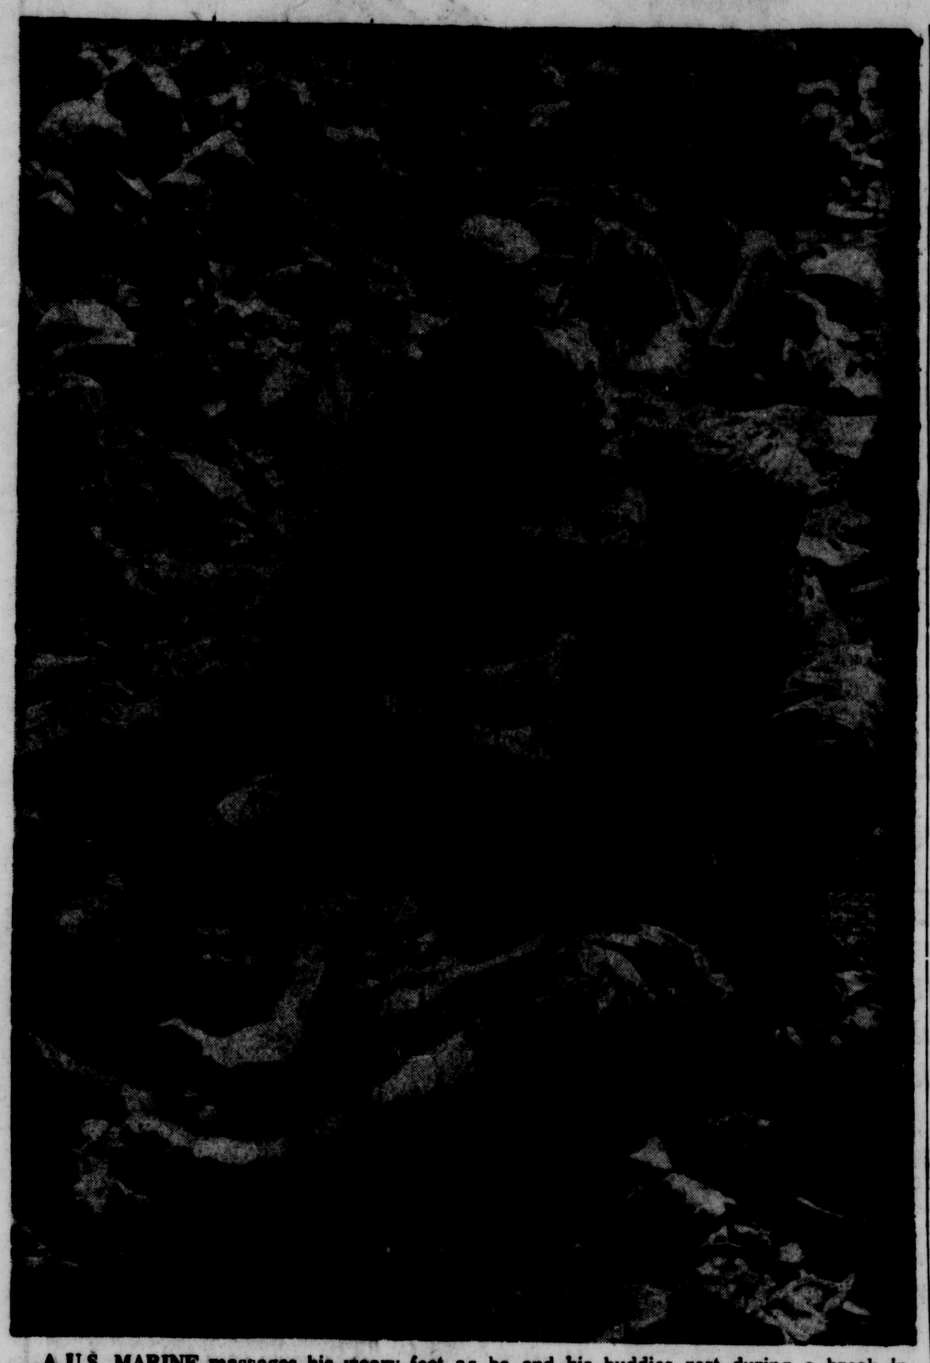
U.S. Destroys 11 MIGs In North Viet



A U.S. MARINE massages his weary feet as he and his buddies rest during a break in heavy fighting north of Khe Sanh, South Vietnam. SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers inflicted the heaviest aircraft destruction of the war on North Vietnam Monday, destroying 11 Communist MIG17 interceptors in the air and on the ground, the American command reported today.

As the North took another pounding in the intensified air war, heavy fighting flared across South Vietnam from the central highlands to the Mekong Delta. American infantrymen suffered their heaviest losses in the delta fighting, where 16 were killed and 40 wounded.

The ground forces were supported by fighter-bombers that attacked Communist positions in the South with a record 625 sorties Monday.

In a delayed report, the American command announced the loss of three U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs during raids over North Vietnam Sunday, including two shot down by MIG21s and one from unknown causes. The four crewmen were listed as missing. This brought to 528 the number of American planes reported lost over North Vietnam, including 15 shot down by MIGs.

Hanoi radio claimed the North Vietnamese air force shot down three U.S. planes Monday while ground forces downed a fourth during the record day of MIG kills. But the U.S. command did not announce any losses for the day, and a spokesman refused to comment on a Peking claim that the Red Chinese air force shot down two Navy A4B Skyhawks over the Chinese mainland Monday.

Peking made a similar claim of downing two American planes over South China April 24, a claim which the U.S. command in Saigon denied at the time. The Chinese also claimed April 29 that they brought down a pilotless American reconnaissance plane.

The record American MIG kills were made during raids on the MIG air bases at Kep and Hoa Lac, near Hanoi, targets which were hit last week for the first time in the war.

Sweeping in from 7th Fleet carriers, Navy A4 Skyhawks tangled with four of the Communist interceptors just over the Kep air base 37 miles northeast of Hanoi. Navy pilots claimed downing two MIGs in the duel and damaging another.

Navy pilots said they spotted seven MIGs on the airfield. They claimed they destroyed three of them, damaged another and heavily damaged the field and its support facilities. In the first attack on Kep April 24, there apparently were no MIGs on the ground.

Air Force pilots attacked the Hoa Lac field 20 miles west of Hanoi. They reported destroying five MIGs on the ground and another during a 15-minute aerial dogfight. Pilots said they left numerous fires and secondary explosions throughout the aircraft parking areas.

"We saturated the aircraft parking ramp," said Maj. Robert X. Piper, 36, of Salt Lake City. "The ground was obscured by smoke and dust."

The previous record for MIG kills in one day was seven shot down in dogfights last Jan. 2. The Communist losses Monday raised to 17 the number of Red interceptors reported knocked out in the past week—nine in the air and eight on the ground. It brought the total number of MIGs claimed by American pilots in the war to 56.

Drop Listed In Morning City Ballots

Turnout Reported Down From Total In 1963's Election

East Liverpool voters cast 716 ballots in the first four hours after the polls opened this morning in the municipal primary election, a drop of 148 from the 846 shown at the same time in the 1963 primaries.

Intermittent morning rains were blamed in part for the 16 per cent cut in the forenoon vote. If voting continues at the same pace through the balance of the day, East Liverpool's total turnout will hit approximately 3,300, compared with the pre-election forecast of 3,750.

The total city vote was 3,893 in 1963. In 1965, it hit 3,886.

Voter apathy also was blamed for the apparent decline in the balloting. The election climaxes one of the most listless municipal campaigns in many years.

However, the tempo of voting is expected to pick up in late afternoon as workers stop at the polls on their way from the job. Clearing skies this afternoon also could help boost the turnout.

A sampling of seven precincts showed 89 Republican and 85 Democratic ballots had been cast at 10:30 a. m. In essentially the same precincts four years ago, the count showed 95 Republicans had voted, compared with 89 Democrats.

Precinct B of the First Ward, which votes at a St. George St. residence, showed a total vote of 35 in the forenoon — 11 Republicans and 24 Democrats. Four years ago at the same time, it reported 26 Republicans and 29 Democrats.

Precinct 2-I in Beechwood had 13 Republicans and 18 Democrats in the forenoon today. Four years ago, it showed eight Republicans and 17 Democrats. In Precinct 2-E, at the North Side Fire station, there were 25 Republicans and nine Demo-

To Withdraw 4 Squadrons Of Combat Planes

U.S. Set To Pull 35,000 Troops Out Of Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, in agreement with Britain and West Germany, announced today plans to withdraw up to 35,000 of its armed forces and four squadrons of combat planes from West Germany.

Johnson administration officials estimated the transfer of soldiers and Air Force personnel—together with thousands of dependents, to bases in the United States—would mean saving of around $100 million in the next year.

The troops and planes are part of the U.S. commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The agreement now must go to the NATO Defense Planning Committee.

To try to balance out other costs West Germany has agreed to invest $500 million in medium-term government securities between July 7, 1967 and June 1968.

In addition West Germany will spend an estimated $300 million in U.S. military equipment.

Under the same three-way plan, Britain would withdraw one brigade of 5,000 men and one squadron of aircraft to reduce its costs. West Germany would agree to purchase about $150 million worth of military and civilian goods in Britain. The United States will purchase an additional $19.6 million of military equipment in Britain from April 1, 1967, to March 31, 1968.

The announcement made here by the State Department, simultaneously made in London and Bonn, said the U.S. troops and Air Force cuts would be achieved by redeploying two brigades of the 24th Infantry Division now in Bavaria and four out of nine squadrons of aircraft now based in various parts of Germany.

The redeployment, technically subject to approval by the 14-nation Defense Planning Committee, tentatively is scheduled to start next Jan. 1.

The forces involved would remain fully committed to NATO and ready for combat in Europe even though stationed in the United States, according to the announcement.

In its statement, the State Department said:

"The U.S. Army division involved will be the 24th Infantry Division.

At least one brigade of that division will be in Germany at

LBJ's Plan Awaited In Rail Dispute

Congress Delays Strike Threat For Another 47 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, after again delaying a threatened nationwide rail strike, waited today for President Johnson to recommend legislation to settle the wage dispute once and for all.

While Johnson gave no advance hint of his plan, the railroads argued against government seizure of the industry and a union spokesman warned against a "police state" compulsory settlement.

Several members of Congress have said they voted for Monday's 47-day strike delay only because Johnson promised to propose a bill to settle permanently the drawn-out dispute. The delay was approved 72 to 2 in the Senate and 301 to 56 in the House.

The White House has made it clear Johnson's proposal will deal only with this dispute, not the general question of major nationwide strikes.

An earlier congressional measure delaying the strike deadline for 20 days would have expired at 12:01 a.mm. Wednesday.

Six shop unions had set that time for their threatened strike against 90 per cent of the nation's major rail lines.

"What gets more attention in Congress—the profits of the great corporations or the rights of American working men?" asked union spokesman Michael Fox.

Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employees Department, said the railroads want Congress to impose compulsory arbitration to settle the dispute.

"What that means is throwing into prison any railroad worker who dares to strike. That is a police state system," Fox said.

There was no immediate indication of new negotiations between the railroads and the six unions.

Despite Panel Vote For Salisbury

Hughes Of Monitor Wins Pulitzer Reporting Prize

NEW YORK (AP) — R. John Hughes of the Christian Science Monitor has won the 1967 Pulitzer Prize for international reporting despite a jury panel's recommendation that the award go to Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times.

The award announcement Monday promptly touched off a controversy after a source disclosed the jury panel voted 4-1 to honor Salisbury for his dispatches from North Vietnam.

Instead the panel was overruled by the Pulitzer Prize advisory board which voted 6-5 against Salisbury, reportedly because his original dispatches failed to give the source of listed casualty figures.

In turn the trustees of Columbia University upheld the board and went along with the recommendation that Hughes—the second choice of the jury panel—be honored for his coverage of the attempted Communist coup in Indonesia and the purges that ensued.

Salisbury, a Pulitzer winner in the same category 12 years ago, commented, "I put the opinion of the editors of the Times above any jurors. If the Times thinks my stuff is good, I put that above the Pulitzers or anything else."

There was no immediate comment from Hughes on the controversy but Michael J. Ogden, a member of the five-man panel, said he stood by the majority vote for Salisbury.

Ogden said there were technical defects in the Salisbury dispatches but that their "impact and general over-all effect" far outweighed other considerations.

Announcement of the prizes was held up 90 minutes by the controversy over the international reporting award.

The award for news photography went to Jack R. Thornell of The Associated Press for his picture showing James H. Meredith being shot while on a civil rights march through Mississippi.

Edward Albee, whose failure to receive a Pulitzer Prize in 1963 led the the resignation of three drama prize jurors, won the drama award this year for his latest play, "A Delicate Balance."

The play deals with a middle-aged couple who lives are upset by fearful friends and maladjusted neighbors.

The prize for fiction went to Bernard Malamud for "The Fixer" written on the theme of anti-Jewish persecutions in czarist Russia. It also won the National Book Award in March.

"I'm glad to have this attention focused on the book," Malamud, 53, said in Cambridge, Mass., after learning of the award. "I'm afraid though, it won't make me a better writer."

The prize for meritorious public service by a newspaper was shared by the Milwaukee Journal and the Louisville Courier-Journal. It was the second award in the category for the Milwaukee paper which previously won in 1919.

This time the paper was cited for "its successful campaign to stiffen the laws against water pollution in Wisconsin."

Richard H. Leonard, editor, said in Milwaukee afterward, "The journal has long considered the preservation of our natural resources to be one of

Showdown Slated Today In Mississippi Elections

SUNFLOWER, Miss. (AP) — Two little towns in the cotton-rich delta flatland vote today in a Negro-white showdown that civil rights leaders hope will put Mississippi Negroes into city office for the first time this century.

Observers from the Justice Department will oversee the balloting in Sunflower and Moorhead, which have a combined ppoulation of 2,362. Of Sunflower's 338 registered voters, 185 are Negro and 153 are white; the voting lists in Moorhead (pop. 1,700) are balanced racially.

The elections were ordered by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which voided the 1965 municipal elections on the grounds that Negroes had been denied the right to register in time to vote.

There is no question of the issue: a test of racial strength.

"You're either going to vote black or white, baby, there ain't no in-between," said a civil rights worker active in the campaign to get out the Negro vote.

The Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, which successfully protested the 1965 voting results, has been joined by a New York group called "National Committee for Free Elections in Sunflower" in the fight to elect Negro candidates. Support has come from Harlem businessmen and Northern politicians.

"The eyes of Negroes across the nation will be on Sunflower County," said a civil rights worker. "We're going to show them how it can be done."

$6,000 Taken From Beaver Area Woman

Thieves broke into a Center Township home south of Monaca Monday and pried open a woman's safe, leaving with $6,000 in cash, stocks and an undetermined number of coins from a collection.

Mrs. Anna Maz of 918 N. Brodhead Rd. reported to Center Township Police and Pennsylvania State Police the robbery which she discovered early today.

The safe in her bedroom was carried to the living room and "peeled" open, officers said.

Mrs. Maz said she took her daughter to the Greater Pittsburgh Airport about noon, then went to a restaurant which she operates in Aliquippa.

A couple residing in the second floor apartment of the home returned home last night about 10:30, and told officers they heard no one downstairs until Mrs. Maz returned early this morning.

Britain Seeks Market Spot, Wilson Says

Decision Made By Cabinet To Apply For Membership

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Cabinet decided formally today to apply for British membership in the six-nation European Common Market.

Informants who reported this said Wilson would announce the decision in the House of Commons later.

The decision emerged from a meeting of the Cabinet during which ministers were said to have gone over the terms of Wilson's statement. This is expected to list several issues on which Britian seeks to negotiate safeguards for its vital interests.

Wilson went to Buckingham Palace Monday night to inform Queen Elizabeth II of the agreement reached among his ministers — some with profound reservations, a majority with enthusiasm — to reopen the long and arduous campaign for entry into the six-nation European Economic Community.

No one was playing down the difficulties involved in negotiating entry or the economic hardships Britain would endure for a time in adjusting to unprotected competition from Europe.

Even if President Charles de Gaulle of France puts up no insurmountable barriers, as he did in 1963, haggling over condi-

Negotiations Planned In Walkout At Midland

Negotiations are scheduled to resume this afternoon in the six-day clerks' strike at the McIntosh - Hemphill Division plant of E. W. Bliss Co. in Midland.

Talks were to start at 2 p.m. with Art Wellman, federal mediator, on issues in the strike which has closed the Midland plant and another facility at Pittsburgh's South Side.

Fourteen office and plant clerks at Midland walked out last Thursday over issues involved in contract negotiations, including salary - wage provisions.

Midland Plan Opposed

Merger Snubbed By West Beaver

Opposition to a proposed consolidation of Midland and Western Beaver School Districts was voiced during a meeting of the Western Beaver board Monday night.

The Western Beaver board is scheduled to advise the Midland board it is not interested in any reorganization plan with Midland at present.

Western Beaver authorities cited the loss of state school funds, their own current building program and long - range planning as the reasons for rejecting the proposals.

A DELEGATION of some 35 residents appeared at the board meeting and presented petitions opposing any consolidation. There were some 487 signatures reported on the petitions.

A. L. Breakiron served as a spokesman for the delegation. The group said, "The majority of residents are opposed to any reorganization plan, since they are very happy with the present system."

The Midland Board of Education earlier had asked Western Beaver board members to meet with them to consider a possible reorganization.

Midland proponents of a consolidation cited the increase in school services and course offerings and possible savings in finances which a consolidated district might obtain.

WESTERN BEAVER authorities last night indicated an estimated $185,000 in state education funds would be lost should Midland and Western Beaver merge. "This would be a costly move for local taxpayers."

The board tentatively accepted bids totaling $823,736 for an addition and alterations at the

Romney also told students, "I don't think we should pursue a way that will weaken the President as long as he's President, and I don't think we should pursue a course that will help the enemy."

LBJ's Plan Awaited In Rail Dispute

Congress Delays Strike Threat For Another 47 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, after again delaying a threatened nationwide rail strike, waited today for President Johnson to recommend legislation to settle the wage dispute once and for all.

While Johnson gave no advance hint of his plan, the railroads argued against government seizure of the industry and a union spokesman warned against a "police state" compulsory settlement.

Several members of Congress have said they voted for Monday's 47-day strike delay only because Johnson promised to propose a bill to settle permanently the drawn-out dispute. The delay was approved 72 to 2 in the Senate and 301 to 56 in the House.

The White House has made it clear Johnson's proposal will deal only with this dispute, not the general question of major nationwide strikes.

An earlier congressional measure delaying the strike deadline for 20 days would have expired at 12:01 a.mm. Wednesday.

Six shop unions had set that time for their threatened strike against 90 per cent of the nation's major rail lines.

"What gets more attention in Congress—the profits of the great corporations or the rights of American working men?" asked union spokesman Michael Fox.

Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employees Department, said the railroads want Congress to impose compulsory arbitration to settle the dispute.

"What that means is throwing into prison any railroad worker who dares to strike. That is a police state system," Fox said.

There was no immediate indication of new negotiations between the railroads and the six unions.

$6,000 Taken From Beaver Area Woman

Thieves broke into a Center Township home south of Monaca Monday and pried open a woman's safe, leaving with $6,000 in cash, stocks and an undetermined number of coins from a collection.

Mrs. Anna Maz of 918 N. Brodhead Rd. reported to Center Township Police and Pennsylvania State Police the robbery which she discovered early today.

The safe in her bedroom was carried to the living room and "peeled" open, officers said.

Mrs. Maz said she took her daughter to the Greater Pittsburgh Airport about noon, then went to a restaurant which she operates in Aliquippa.

A couple residing in the second floor apartment of the home returned home last night about 10:30, and told officers they heard no one downstairs until Mrs. Maz returned early this morning.

Britain Seeks Market Spot, Wilson Says

Decision Made By Cabinet To Apply For Membership

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Cabinet decided formally today to apply for British membership in the six-nation European Common Market.

Informants who reported this said Wilson would announce the decision in the House of Commons later.

The decision emerged from a meeting of the Cabinet during which ministers were said to have gone over the terms of Wilson's statement. This is expected to list several issues on which Britian seeks to negotiate safeguards for its vital interests.

Wilson went to Buckingham Palace Monday night to inform Queen Elizabeth II of the agreement reached among his ministers — some with profound reservations, a majority with enthusiasm — to reopen the long and arduous campaign for entry into the six-nation European Economic Community.

No one was playing down the difficulties invoived in negotiating entry or the economic hardships Britain would endure for a time in adjusting to unprotected competition from Europe.

Even if President Charles de Gaulle of France puts up no insurmountable barriers, as he did in 1963, haggling over condi-

Midland Plan Opposed

Merger Snubbed By West Beaver

The Western Beaver board is scheduled to advise the Midland board it is not interested in any reorganization plan with Midland at present.

Western Beaver authorities cited the loss of state school funds, their own current building program and long - range planning as the reasons for rejecting the proposals.

A DELEGATION of some 35 residents appeared at the board meeting and presented petitions opposing any consolidation. There were some 487 signatures reported on the petitions.

A. L. Breakiron served as a spokesman for the delegation. The group said, "The majority of residents are opposed to any reorganization plan, since they are very happy with the present system."

The Midland Board of Education earlier had asked Western Beaver board members to meet with them to consider a possible reorganization.

Midland proponents of a consolidation cited the increase in school services and course offerings and possible savings in finances which a consolidated district might obtain.

WESTERN BEAVER authorities last night indicated an estimated $185,000 in state education funds would be lost should Midland and Western Beaver merge. "This would be a costly move for local taxpayers."

The board tentatively accepted bids totaling $823,736 for an addition and alterations at the

At Commissioners' Meeting

Discussion Held On Requirement At Kennedy Park

A lengthy discussion on the proposed leasing of Kennedy Park, near Newell, and the government's requirements for completion of planned improvements occupied the meeting of Hancock County commissioners Monday afternoon at New Cumberland.

Richard M. Nugent, a representative of the Corps of Engineers at Pittsburgh, informed the commissioners that the present concessionarie contract submitted for approval, is not acceptable in its present form.

AS A RESULT, Atty. Edwin Flowers, representing the New Cumberland Realty Co., recently awarded the concessionaire contract, will resubmit the proposal through the commissioners.

Nugent pointed out that the county still should be responsible to see that improvements are carried out.

He suggested that the type of lease used for those who spend under $25,000 a year be best for Kennedy Park. It would involve payment to the commissioners of $1 a year, plus a percentage of the gross income of the concessionaire.

Nugent told the group the Corps of Engineers wants to continue to deal with the county.

Flowers said he would agree to Nugent's proposal, but felt the realty company would not be willing to invest the estimated $200,000 for improvements at the site if it were not sure where it stands with either the commissioners or the corps.

Nugent told him, however, that while formally everything must be approved by the county before it is sent to Pittsburgh, informal approval of all proposals will be possible. In that way, he said, "needless plans will not be formulated only to find they are not consistent with the government's thinking."

COMMISSIONER Edward Nogay pointed out the county presently is in the position of not making or wanting to make any money on the park, but, he said, at the same time the site must be kept in good order.

Commissioners asked if an interim contract could not be agreed upon to get the project under way, but Flowers said the realty concern is proceeding on the theory "that the demand will be sufficient to make the complete facility profitable" and he doubts if it would be willing to go along with only partial completion of the project.

Flowers agreed, however, to resubmit the contract for approval as soon as possible.

In other business, Sheriff Joe Rodak asked that the bonds of Deputies Jack Thayer and Nick Muscara be canceled. The two have submitted their resignations to take jobs at the Weirton Steel Co.

The commissioners approved bonds for John Ross, Joseph Ference and Mary Helba, the last being transferred from the tax office to the radio room of the sheriff's office. Approval was given for the appointment of Hazel Betty Courts of 3172 Hill St., Weirton, to the tax office.

Commisisoners also approved a request from Rodak to send a maximum of three deputies to a public school to be held at the Bureau of Criminal Identification in London, Ohio, next month.

Reports for 13 estates were received and 19 probate assignments approved.

Requisitions were received from Tomlinson Run State Park for an upright freezer, desk pads, ledger book, file, notebook and adding machine ribbon.

COMMISSIONERS approved a contract with Barton Aschman and Associates of Chicago for a survey in conjunction with the proposed community shelter program.

Andrew Kondik, county civil defense director, said plans are being advanced for a county-wide communications and alerting system. He told the commissiers federal matching funds will be allocated for such projects. Kondick also appealed to Hancock County residents to cooperate with representatives of the U. S. Census Bureau, who presently are conducting a survey of home shelters.

Prosecutor Floyd Tarr was directed to write the state attorney general and the tax commissioner on the legality of a study of the county's insurance coverage, and where changes may be needed.

Bills of the Children's Home Board were approved, as was an authorization to buy tires for the station wagon and paint for playground equipment.

Approval also was given for the repair of a lawn mower, the disposal of obsolete equipment and the purchase of a new plow if the old one cannot be repaired.

The Tri - County Law Enforcement Association was authorized to spend up to $100 for incidentals from the contingency fund.

The resignation of Carl Durham from the County Planning Commission was accepted. Commissioner Jack Evans will fill the vacancy.

Copies of the agricultural agent's budget were presented for commissioners' signatures.

A request from the VFW in New Cumberland for 212 grave markers was received. The county presently has 61 on hand and 151 will have to be ordered, at a cost of nearly $500. Vandals removed the markers last winter from graves where the New Cumberland post had set them.

Commissioners approved a motion to have George Herron and two other men, to be selected by him, cut the grass and install the picnic tables at Kennedy Park.

The commissioners will meet again Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. to give additional study to the preliminary contract for the new county jail.

BILL BRATT, LEFT, received a life membership card from Comdr. Francis House during "Bill Bratt Night" ceremonies Saturday at Wellsville American Legion Post 70. Looking on are Sam Maylone, finance officer, and post adjutant Harry Excell. Bratt recently returned from the Philippines, where he was imprisoned 25 years ago at the fall of Bataan and Corregidor.

New York, N. Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain without surgery except in unusually severe or persistent cases.

The secret is Preparation H®—the only formula containing Bio-Dyne®. Preparation H also helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Sen. Dodd And The Club

Connecticut Sen. Thomas J. Dodd may be censured for the way he has been handling money. He says he will fight.

It never is going to be possible for outsiders to understand the inside workings of the U.S. Senate. It often is likened to a private club operating under a public subsidy.

When Joseph R. McCarthy finally had to be curbed for his conduct, he was condemned, not censured. But in actual fact, one was as bad as the other because what happened to McCarthy and what is going to happen to Dodd is loss of status.

It is like being sent to Coventry in an English boarding school. It is like the silent treatment in a shop. It is like being the company fink on a production line. Sen. Dodd can fight until he has exhausted himself, and he never will be a bona fide member of the Senate club again.

Outsiders can't be expected to understand this.

They have no counterpart in their own experience. In their world, a person either is considered above reproach or not worth arguing about. As a matter of fact, Sen. Dodd now is not worth arguing about, either, except to himself.

He can argue he is above reproach until he is out of breath, but his peers already have reproached him — and that closes the issue. Whether the Senate as a whole decides to censure him, condemn him, or ignore him is beside the point.

The World Of Bill Bradley

If everything goes as predicted, about midseason next year a former Rhodes scholar will turn his back on the academic world for the world of professional basketball

Bill Bradley, Princeton all-everything on the roundball court, will don the uniform of the New York Knickerbockers to try to carve a niche for himself in pro basketball.

The Knicks have signed Bradley but have to wait until January for his services because he will be on active duty with the U.S. Air Force.

Fabulous contracts for oustanding athletes are becoming common. But what makes Bradley's case unuslal is his brilliant mind. He could have chosen any one of a number of careers.

Just how many would have paid him half a million for the first four years?

The former All America and Olympic star does not like to talk about the money angle of his contract. He merely says in the two years since graduation he has discovered: "I love basketball."

Intermingled with the love of the game and the big money is another factor that sheds light on the decision.

Bill Bradley is a perfectionist. He proved his ability in college ranks and Olympic basketball competition. There is only one more rung on the basketball ladder before he reaches the top — professional.

A lot of college athletes have failed to make the grade as a professional. The Knicks are betting a lot of money that Bradley can be a superstar. Bradley feels he can make it.

Back In The Flying

The United States is back in supersonic jet airliner competition to the consternation of some who see no technical or economical grounds for giant transport planes.

Latest action is approved by President Johnson for construction of two prototypes of the supersonic transport (SST). The planes are designed for a passenger load of 300 and will travel at 1,800 miles an hour.

The huge capital outlay for the program had caused the President to move cautiously toward final approval of the project. The original date for his decision was last Jan. 1.

Circumstances surrounding the SST leaves the President with only one choice. He will go to Congress with a request for funds.

The United States and the aircraft industry already have spent more than $250 million on SST research, development and design.

The present timetable has the plane in the air by mid-1970 and in commercial service by 1974.

The Soviet Union and a joint effort by France and Britain will put supersonic transport planes in the air before the U.S. model is airborne. However, the U.S. plane is expected to grab its share of the world market because it will be larger and faster.

Airlines already have ordered 113 of the planes and at least 300 are expected to be sold.

It has been predicted $1.144 billion will be required to build and test the prototypes; but possibilities opened up by SST planes are exciting far beyond initial cost.

Economically, there would be a good return of the investment in terms of thousands of new jobs and continuing profit from sale of the planes. Profit figures would be in the billions.

Larger passenger capacities would eliminate the need for so many smaller planes and help alleviate the problem of our clogged airports.

Reduced operating costs to airlines would reduce passenger fares.

The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has estimated a world air-traffic market of 125 billion passenger miles by 1990. Something had to be done to meet the challenge. The United States' answer is the SST.

Dear Truman Twill:

There are four of us patients in this room, ward, or whatever you want to call it. Three stroke patients and me, with my bed sores or pressure sores.

A handwritten sign on the bulletin board by my bed says "Prone Position Only," but I already have another dangerous red spot on a hip from leaning on one side. But enough about me—but you should hear about my roommates.

2—An elderly gentleman, retired manufacturers agent from New Orleans, who can talk a little very softly but seldom does. He has a handsome full gray beard and looks like a classic ship captain.

3—The fourth patient is a retired Army ordnance colonel who was working for NASA (National Aeronautics Space Administration) at Kennedy Space Center when stricken.

We have refought World War II three times already and are halfway through it for the fourth time. I'll have to tell you more about him some other time.

But before that, there are a few other things to mention.

I said, "It looks like a nice day out," and she said, "Yes, I hope it warms up. I hate cold weather.'

I said, "You mean you don't like to ski, sled-ride and ice skate."

And she said, "Lordy no. But I used to just love to roller skate. When I was a girl, the police used to rope off a hill at 121st St. and Park Ave. and we kids used to have loads of fun roller skating on that hill. We really had the best times."

"Did you have a bicycle?"

"No, I never wanted a bicycle. Some of the other girls had bicycles and my mother would have gotten me one but I never wanted one. All I ever wanted to do was roller skate."

"Was that in Harlem?'

"Sure. 121st St. and Park Ave. is in Harlem. We kids used to have lots of good times there."

Faithfully yours,
MAX

'We Could Dust Him Off A Bit'

Nothing To Fear

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

There has been growing fear in Washington in the last few weeks that the Johnson administration is escalating its efforts to cut off all criticism of the way the President and his people are handling the Vietnam war.

Art Buchwald

This fear, of course, is groundless because President Johnson has said many times that this is a free country and he not only welcomes dissent, but seeks it out.

He also has said, though, that the dissenters are prolonging the war and the more his critics scream for peace the more encouraged Hanoi is to continue the fighting.

Therefore, the burden of ending the war is not on the administration any more, but on the critics. And in a free society it is a tough burden to carry.

I found my friend Polanski, who has been a critic of the war for some time, muttering to himself the other day.

"Let's see," he said. "If I'm against the war and I say I'm against the war, that means the war will continue. But if I say I'm for the war, even if I'm against it, that means it will end."

"THAT'S RIGHT, Polanski," I said. "If you would just shut up, Hanoi would come to the conference table in 24 hours."

"But I don't like the way the war is going," he protested.

"No one likes the way the war is going, Polanski, but the more you say you don't like the way the war is going, the worse the war gets. At least that's what President Johnson says."

"But if I don't say I don't like the way the war is going, how will President Johnson know I don't like it?"

"President Johnson knows already that you don't like the way the war is going."

"Who told him?"

"Probably the FBI. But the important thing is he doesn't care if he knows it. What worries him is that Ho Chi Minh knows it."

"How would Ho Chi Minh know it?" Polanski wanted to know.

"Because President Johnson keeps talking about his U.S. critics helping Ho Chi Minh all the time."

"But if I shut up, then President Johnson will think I'm for everything he's doing over there."

"But it would bother me. After all, if we don't have any dissent in this country, then we're no better than the Communists."

'NOW THAT'S ridiculous, Polanski. There always will be healthy dissent in this country. Why you could get up tomorrow and attack Lady Bird's beautification program and you wouldn't hear a peep from the White House. You also could attack Sens. Fulbright, Kennedy, McGovern and Church, and even though they're members of the President's own political party he would welcome your criticism. That's the kind of man the President is."

"Isn't there any way of telling President Johnson I don't approve of his policies without Hanoi finding out about it?" Polanski said.

"It's not easy, Polanski, particularly when you're wearing that sweat shirt which says Make Love Not War."

Polanski took out a brush and paint. As I looked over his shoulder, he painted on his sweat shirt Bomb Hanoi Back To The Stone Age.

"That's wonderful, Polanski," I said. "You may even win the Nobel Peace Prize for that one."

Any Further Questions

By Truman Twill

Stalin's daughter is telling Americans what they want to hear when she says her old man wasn't the only Russian of his day with blood on his hands.

Contrary to the Khrushchev doctine that everything can be blamed on Stalin, she says, everybody who went along with the party should share the blame, even ordinary citizens like herself.

Adolf Hitler had no children, but suppose he had and one of them said every German who didn't stand up against him was responsible for the crimes he caused to be committed against the dignity of man.

Suppose all Italians who didn't expess opposition to the sawdust Caesar, Benito Mussolini, were to be given a share of the guilt for his cruelties and oppressions. Or suppose all the Japanese who didn't risk death by standing up against the despotic Tojo were to be told they must share blame for Japan's costly misadventure in international power politics.

Americans love to hear about the mass guilt of others.

That was why the Nurenberg trials of the Nazi war criminals were followed with rapt attention here.

But when it becomes a case of Americans acknowledging they, too, can be accused of mass guilt, there is acute embarrassment.

They are angry recriminations against anyone who dares to mention such a thing. Yet the fact is that some Americans still feel guilty for the A-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The fact is some Americans are not comfortable in their souls about a war in Vietnam that seems to imply we would rather see the Vietnamese dead than red.

What happens to an American who asks if his country should be doing what it is doing in Southeast Asia?

What happens to a skeptic who suggests the military minds who have been dominant in forming government policy may not be the last word in wisdom; that they never have been noted for wisdom in the past and haven't changed?

Wonderers and the skeptics are accused of borderline treason.

They are accused of giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

If things keep getting hairier and angrier, the dissenters will be locked up. Their status will be taken from them by official decree.

They will be discredited and disgraced.

Stalin's daughter has the option of a free opinion—now.

She kept her mouth shut when her old man and his gang were killing off the opposition with bullets and starvation.

Otherwise, she wouldn't be here today to publicize forthcoming literary works with gusty statements about the importance of being outspoken when the Establishment is cutting across the grain of individual citizens.

Russians' Memory Lingers On

NEW YORK — In a little Viennese bistro run by a Hungarian over on the West Side, it was all pianissimo for the visitors from Moscow the other Thursday night.

Victor Riesel

They ate as heavily and persistently as they argued — goose, duck, steak — all as though food were going out of style. They were "tourists," eleven of them, but some were less tourist than the others. The latter were five Soviet labor officials who really were ambulatory test cases in the conflict between the unruffled and frequently immovable Mr. Labor, George Meany, and the flashier, more oratorical Walter Reuther.

The Russians' gourmet gala Thursday night, April 20, was set up by the Teamsters Brotherhood in return for hospitality shown in the Soviet Union to one of the attorneys of General President Jimmy Hoffa.

So the visitors, for the moment, were on neutral ground. The Teamsters are independent. The AFL-CIO International Affairs Dept., directed by Jay Lovestone for Mr. Meany, is utterly opposed to any exchange visits by Soviet labor officials — on the theory that Soviet labor organizations truly are not unions, but merely production mechanisms and disciplinary agencies for the Socialist Soviet state.

WALTER REUTHER and especially his didactic brother Victor — who is Jay Lovestone's counterpart inside the United Auto Workers — are for free exchange and bridges to the East.

In the restaurant, while the Russians ate their way through several hundred dollars worth of capitalist delicacies, the Teamsters argued that the Russian unions did not have the right to strike and therefore American labor was far freer. The Russians — especially the officials of the metal, electrical, engineering and transportation unions and the seafarers and waterways units — retorted that there was no need to strike inside Russia. After all, they would be striking against themselves, for aren't they the state? they asked. And aren't they catching up on the U.S. in building and consumer goods?

Nobody insulted anybody. The Soviets kept it impersonal and fraternal — sort of a not - bad - fellows policy. And the next day they compromised further with concentrated finance capitalism by lunching in a fine Rockefeller Center dining room as guests of the National Maritime Union.

It had been quite a trip for the tourists. It all started a year ago when eight Soviet labor men wanted to come to the U.S. The AFL-CIO protested. Visas were not granted—just as visas were not granted to the Soviet Sea and River Workers and the Polish Seamen and Dockers Union, when they wanted to accept the invitation of Harry Bridges last March to be the guests of his International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union.

THE U.S. State Dept. told Bridges and Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., who had intervened, that "entry of these (five) persons into the U.S. is not considered to be in the public interest."

As for the original eight Soviet labor men, the Reuthers did want them and did say so privately to the U.S. government. But Mr. Meany prevailed. They were not admitted.

But they did not give up seeking entry into the U.S. Some months ago, the Soviet government got up a list of eleven tourists — six of them were labor officials — including some of those who sought to come here originally. But this time there could be no U.S. objections — the men were coming as tourists — for sightseeing.

But the government did object to one chap, Igor Mikhailev (phonetic spelling). It was believed by our people that he had been here previously, under another name, as an intelligence agent.

SO THE OTHERS got their visas. They came to the U.S. early in April. In Washington they were hosted one evening by Victor Reuther at a dinner party attended by one official of the U.S. Dept. of Labor. They left the capital on April 14 for Detroit and talks with United Auto Workers officials. Then slowly back to New York for calls on unions here to wind up their three weeks stay.

Of course, there was anger inside the national AFL-CIO leadership. The Soviet labor men had made their first breakthrough. In a sense, this was a victory for the Reuthers.

Obviously the State Dept. had obtained approval for the visas from someone in the White House. This is the logic of coexistence and hands - across - the - sea to Eastern Europe. Meany and his colleagues feel quite strongly against all this.

The Russians have gone. But their memory will linger on — high inside the administration.

This 'n That

"Yankee Doodle" is a song that has been popular in America since colonial days. The tune is an old one. In about 1500 it was popular in Holland where the harvesters sang it, the verses beginning with the meaningless words, "Yanker dudel doodle down." The song was also sung to small children in England during Shakespeare's time. And another form of the Yankee Doodle tune was sung by the Cavaliers in the 1600's.

"It's not easy, Polanski, particularly when you're wearing that sweat shirt which says Make Love Not War."

"Okay, you've persuaded me. I'll make a new sweat shirt."

Polanski took out a brush and paint. As I looked over his shoulder, he painted on his sweat shirt Bomb Hanoi Back To The Stone Age.

"That's wonderful, Polanski," I said. "You may even win the Nobel Peace Prize for that one."

Any Further Questions

Stalin's daughter is telling Americans what they want to hear when she says her old man wasn't the only Russian of his day with blood on his hands.

Contrary to the Khrushchev doctine that everything can be blamed on Stalin, she says, everybody who went along with the party should share the blame, even ordinary citizens like herself.

Adolf Hitler had no children, but suppose he had and one of them said every German who didn't stand up against him was responsible for the crimes he caused to be committed against the dignity of man.

Suppose all Italians who didn't expess opposition to the sawdust Caesar, Benito Mussolini, were to be given a share of the guilt for his cruelties and oppressions. Or suppose all the Japanese who didn't risk death by standing up against the despotic Tojo were to be told they must share blame for Japan's costly misadventure in international power politics.

Americans love to hear about the mass guilt of others.

That was why the Nurenberg trials of the Nazi war criminals were followed with rapt attention here.

But when it becomes a case of Americans acknowledging they, too, can be accused of mass guilt, there is acute embarrassment.

They are angry recriminations against anyone who dares to mention such a thing. Yet the fact is that some Americans still feel guilty for the A-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The fact is some Americans are not comfortable in their souls about a war in Vietnam that seems to imply we would rather see the Vietnamese dead than red.

What happens to an American who asks if his country should be doing what it is doing in Southeast Asia?

What happens to a skeptic who suggests the military minds who have been dominant in forming government policy may not be the last word in wisdom, that they never have been noted for wisdom in the past and haven't changed?

Wonderers and the skeptics are accused of borderline treason.

They are accused of giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

If things keep getting hairier and angrier, the dissenters will be locked up. Their status will be taken from them by official decree.

They will be discredited and disgraced.

Stalin's daughter has the option of a free opinion—now.

She kept her mouth shut when her old man and his gang were killing off the opposition with bullets and starvation.

Otherwise, she wouldn't be here today to publicize forthcoming literary works with gusty statements about the importance of being outspoken when the Establishment is cutting across the grain of individual citizens.

Russians' Memory Lingers On

NEW YORK — In a little Viennese bistro run by a Hungarian over on the West Side, it was all pianissimo for the visitors from Moscow the other Thursday night.

Victor Riesel

They ate as heavily and persistently as they argued — goose, duck, steak — all as though food were going out of style. They were "tourists," eleven of them, but some were less tourist than the others. The latter were five Soviet labor officials who really were ambulatory test cases in the conflict between the unruffled and frequently immovable Mr. Labor, George Meany, and the flashier, more oratorical Walter Reuther.

The Russians' gourmet gala Thursday night, April 20, was set up by the Teamsters Brotherhood in return for hospitality shown in the Soviet Union to one of the attorneys of General President Jimmy Hoffa.

So the visitors, for the moment, were on neutral ground. The Teamsters are independent. The AFL-CIO International Affairs Dept., directed by Jay Lovestone for Mr. Meany, is utterly opposed to any exchange visits by Soviet labor officials — on the theory that Soviet labor organizations truly are not unions, but merely production mechanisms and disciplinary agencies for the Socialist Soviet state.

WALTER REUTHER and especially his didactic brother Victor — who is Jay Lovestone's counterpart inside the United Auto Workers — are for free exchange and bridges to the East.

In the restaurant, while the Russians ate their way through several hundred dollars worth of capitalist delicacies, the Teamsters argued that the Russian unions did not have the right to strike and therefore American labor was far freer. The Russians — especially the officials of the metal, electrical, engineering and transportation unions and the seafarers and waterways units — retorted that there was no need to strike inside Russia. After all, they would be striking against themselves, for aren't they the state? they asked. And aren't they catching up on the U.S. in building and consumer goods?

Nobody insulted anybody. The Soviets kept it impersonal and fraternal — sort of a not - bad - fellows policy. And the next day they compromised further with concentrated finance capitalism by lunching in a fine Rockefeller Center dining room as guests of the National Maritime Union.

It had been quite a trip for the tourists. It all started a year ago when eight Soviet labor men wanted to come to the U.S. The AFL-CIO protested. Visas were not granted—just as visas were not granted to the Soviet Sea and River Workers and the Polish Seamen and Dockers Union, when they wanted to accept the invitation of Harry Bridges last March to be the guests of his International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union.

THE U.S. State Dept. told Bridges and Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., who had intervened, that "entry of these (five) persons into the U.S. is not considered to be in the public interest."

As for the original eight Soviet labor men, the Reuthers did want them and did say so privately to the U.S. government. But Mr. Meany prevailed. They were not admitted.

But they did not give up seeking entry into the U.S. Some months ago, the Soviet government got up a list of eleven tourists — six of them were labor officials — including some of those who sought to come here originally. But this time there could be no U.S. objections — the men were coming as tourists — for sightseeing.

But the government did object to one chap, Igor Mikhailev (phonetic spelling). It was believed by our people that he had been here previously, under another name, as an intelligence agent.

SO THE OTHERS got their visas. They came to the U.S. early in April. In Washington they were hosted one evening by Victor Reuther at a dinner party attended by one official of the U.S. Dept. of Labor. They left the capital on April 14 for Detroit and talks with United Auto Workers officials. Then slowly back to New York for calls on unions here to wind up their three weeks stay.

Of course, there was anger inside the national AFL-CIO leadership. The Soviet labor men had made their first breakthrough. In a sense, this was a victory for the Reuthers.

Obviously the State Dept. had obtained approval for the visas from someone in the White House. This is the logic of coexistence and hands - across - the - sea to Eastern Europe. Meany and his colleagues feel quite strongly against all this.

The Russians have gone. But their memory will linger on — high inside the administration.

"Yankee Doodle" is a song that has been popular in America since colonial days. The tune is an old one. In about 1500 it was popular in Holland where the harvesters sang it, the verses beginning with the meaningless words, "Yanker dudel doodle down." The song was also sung to small children in England during Shakespeare's time. And another form of the Yankee Doodle tune was sung by the Cavaliers in the 1600's.

Gasoline Fumes Explode At Home

Fumes from gasoline being used to clean paint brushes exploded in the basement of an E. 3rd St. home Monday afternoon at 2:45.

Ronald Eddy of 232 E. 3rd St. escaped uninjured when the flames flashed through the basement of his home, according to city firemen.

Eddy had the gasoline in a small can and the fumes were ignited by the flame of a nearby hot water tank.

A blanket in the basement was scorched, but damage was minor.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was caused by children playing with matches. The blaze was confined to the mattress, which was removed from the home.

A backfire through the carburetor caused a minor fire in a car operated by Ruby Davis of East Liverpool yesterday at 3:04 p. m. at the intersection of St. Clair Ave. and Broadway. There was no air filter on the carburetor, firemen said.

South Korean Leader Raps Troop Charge

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Chung Hee Park today ended his campaign for re-election with a strong denial of opposition charges that he plans to send 50,000 more troops to Vietnam if he is returned to office.

The front-running challenger, former President Yun Po-sun, wound up his campaign with a renewal of charges that Park's Democratic Republican party is using "an astronomical sum" of illegal election funds to buy votes.

The election is Wednesday with nearly 14 million South Koreans eligible to vote.

Park told a news conference he knows of no plans to boost Korean troop strength in Vietnam, nor is there a request from the Saigon government for more men. He said he wants to bring Koreans home from Vietnam as soon as the war is settled but that he sees no immediate prospects of that. Korea now has 45,000 troops in Vietnam.

Yun, 69, standard bearer of the Shinmin (New Democratic) party, originally opposed the Korean troop commitment on the ground it would weaken South Korea's defenses against North Korea and Red China.

Once the troops were sent, Yun eased his stand, saying he regarded the commitment as an established fact. He has made it clear he opposes adding to the present Korean force.

Yun told his news conference he is confident he will defeat Park. But he charged that Park's party has produced "ghost voters" in numbers equal to 15 per cent of the electorate as part of its "scheme to rig the election."

He also charged that the government had paralyzed news media by interference and suppression.

The government has denied the election-rigging charge and countered with a claim that the challengers are the ones who are planning to steal the election.

Park came to power in a 1961 military coup while Yun was president. He resigned from the army to run in the 1963 election and defeated Yun by only 150,000 votes.

Home Employes' Petition Opposes Return Of Phillis

LISBON — Thirty - six of the 44 employes of the Columbiana County Home signed a petition to present to the commissioners today. It reads:

"We, the undersigned employes of the County Home, wish it to be made known that we have no desire to work under a man who has been convicted of abuse of patients and drunkenness."

The petitions were notarized and presented to the commissioners' office and to Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis.

Seven of the employes visited the Courthouse Monday morning to advise the commissioners they and other employes will quit if Russell V. Phillis, County Home superintendent discharged in 1965, is reappointed. The commissioners suggested that they get a petition to show how many others felt the same way.

Phillis, Home Supt. Robert Boyce and Joe Mattevi took the competitive Civil Service examination for the post last Friday. The wife of each took the exam for matron. Test results are expected within a day or two from the Department of State Personnel.

British Police Press Search In Gold Theft

LONDON (AP) — British police watched airports and harbors and alerted ships at sea today for traces of a gas-gun gang who hijacked gold bars worth $2.1 million. It was Britain's biggest bullion theft.

A reward of $140,000 was offered by insurance assessors for information leading to recovery of the 140 gold bars weighing more than 1½ tons, and capture of the bandits.

The gold robbery, staged with speed and precision at noon in a London street Monday, was the most lucrative theft in Britain since the Great Train Robbery netted more than $7 million nearly four years ago.

A Dutch freighter which sailed from London soon after the robbery was boarded by police and customs men in the Thames Estuary after an underworld tip that the loot was aboard. No gold was found.

The international police organization, Interpol, was asked to keep watch at docks and airports overseas. British police said attempts might be made to smuggle the gold to the Far East because it would bring a higher price there.

Scotland Yard said "at least six and possibly 10" bandits made the swift raid on an armored truck delivering bullion for the London Merchant Bank of N.M. Rotschild.

They squirted ammonia from gas guns into the faces of two guards, blackjacked another, bundled all three into the back of the truck and drove off. Four miles away they switched the gold to another vehicle and vanished.

The robbery was discovered when four women passing by heard the guards shouting for help inside the parked truck.

Firemen Aid Proves To Be 'Sudisfactory'

Lawrenceville firemen turned off a washing machine Monday night when asked for help in stopping the overflowing device.

Nine men and one truck answered the alarm, which sounded about 8:20 p.m., to the home of Barbara Owen of Stevenson Ave.

The men unplugged the washer in order to stop the overflow. Mrs. Owen said she received an electrical shock when she tried to turn off the machine.

The Preston & Williams Co. of New Castle received the contract for general construction with a bid of $526,787.

Supt. Frank Meredith said the total estimated cost of the project was $1,299,820, and the bids were some $200,000 less.

He explained plans for a swimming pool were dropped because the construction would have been much higher than the original estimate.

Formal signing of contracts is scheduled later this week.

OTHER contracts awarded were Columbiana Heating and Ventilating of Columbus, $99,090 for heating; Renick Bros. Co. of Grove City, $40,000 for plumbing; and Prothero Electric Co. of Beaver, $156,859 for electrical construction.

Meredith said the addition will include a double classroom, a regular classroom, an earth and space science laboratory, chemistry and physics rooms, a planetarium, music room, and an auditorium and gymnasium.

Meredith said about $207,798 has been appropriated for future paving, an athletic storage room and other construction. He said there also has been $50,000 appropriation to provide city water through the Industry Water Authority.

Meredith read a letter from the Water Authority stating it would be necessary for the school to pay a tap - in fee of a maximum of $50,000 to secure water for the schools.

Bills totaling $104,238 were ordered paid including $48,960 for salaries; and $30,829 for rental on the Snyder and Fairview Elementary Schools.

all times. A brigade has about 5,000 combat troops.

"The other two brigades and an appropriate share of divisional and nondivisional support units — about 16,000 to 18,000 more troops— totaling approximately two-thirds of a U.S. division force—will be redeployed from Germany to the United States.

"Once a year, all three brigades will be in Germany for exercises involving the entire division. The rotation plan provides that the three brigades would succeed each other on temporary duty in the Federal Republic of Germany—FRG.

"Forces redeployed to the United States will be maintained in a high degree of readiness, and equipment will be maintained in FRG in sufficient quantity and readiness to insure that the forces can be promptly redeployed to Germany.

"The three tactical fighter wings, now based in Germany, are involved in the plan. Five squadrons will be in Germany at all times. Four squadrons of the aircraft will be redeployed to the United States."

The number of Air Force men to be withdrawn to the United States was estimated at about 6,000. State Department officials said the nine squadrons now in Germany operate more than 200 combat planes— Phantoms and Star Fighters—of which something less than 100 would be pulled back to the United States.

Senate Sets 5th Vote On Funds Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fifth vote on the presidential election campaign financing issue, source of a bitter, six-week Senate floor battle, may finally end the struggle.

The Senate already has voted four times on the issue with each side winning twice. Each side predicted victory in today's scheduled fifth vote.

Strong sentiment was building up to end delay in acting on the business incentives tax bill which has been the vehicle for various riders concerning the election subsidy plan.

The tax measure would restore the seven per cent investment credit on machinery and equipment and also accelerated depreciation rates on income-producing buildings.

The bill passed the House March 16, a week after President Johnson submitted it. Businessmen were hopeful the Senate would follow suit quickly. It has been bogged down in the campaign financing hassle since March 23.

The campaign financing plan, enacted last year with Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., as its author, could make available $30 million each in government funds to Democrats and Republicans in next year's presidential campaign.

Flames Destroy Auto Of Industry Motorist

A 1963 compact station wagon owned by James Plance, 41, of Industry was demolished by a fire on Wolf Run Rd., Industry, Wednesday afternoon at 4.

Plance told Industry police he pulled into a field to turn around and the auto became stuck in soft soil. While attempting to back out, the wheels began to spin and the motor area ignited, apparently from alcohol boiling over onto the radiator.

By the time Industry firemen arrived, the vehicle was destroyed, Police Chief Ray Hendershot said.

"Words can't describe electric heat. You have to live with it to really appreciate it."

Frank Irwin said this after he installed electric heating in his 17-year-old home in 1962. He still hasn't changed his mind.

"Electric heating is so much more comfortable and so much cleaner than the system we had before," says Ohio Power customer Frank Irwin. "We've really been happy with it. And have had absolutely no trouble at all with the system since we installed it." ☐ "It's sure economical, too. Our bills are less each year, even though our electrical usage is the same. South Korean Leader Raps Troop Charge

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Chung Hee Park today ended his campaign for re-election with a strong denial of opposition charges that he plans to send 50,000 more troops to Vietnam if he is returned to office.

The front-running challenger, former President Yun Po-sun, wound up his campaign with a renewal of charges that Park's Democratic Republican party is using "an astronomical sum" of illegal election funds to buy votes.

The election is Wednesday with nearly 14 million South Koreans eligible to vote.

Park told a news conference he knows of no plans to boost Korean troop strength in Vietnam, nor is there a request from the Saigon government for more men. He said he wants to bring Koreans home from Vietnam as soon as the war is settled but that he sees no immediate prospects of that. Korea now has 45,000 troops in Vietnam.

Yun, 69, standard bearer of the Shinmin (New Democratic) party, originally opposed the Korean troop commitment on the ground it would weaken South Korea's defenses against North Korea and Red China.

Once the troops were sent, Yun eased his stand, saying he regarded the commitment as an established fact. He has made it clear he opposes adding to the present Korean force.

Yun told his news conference he is confident he will defeat Park. But he charged that Park's party has produced "ghost voters" in numbers equal to 15 per cent of the electorate as part of its "scheme to rig the election."

He also charged that the government had paralyzed news media by interference and suppression.

The government has denied the election-rigging charge and countered with a claim that the challengers are the ones who are planning to steal the election.

Park came to power in a 1961 military coup while Yun was president. He resigned from the army to run in the 1963 election and defeated Yun by only 150,000 votes.

Home Employes' Petition Opposes Return Of Phillis

LISBON — Thirty - six of the 44 employes of the Columbiana County Home signed a petition to present to the commissioners today. It reads:

"We, the undersigned employes of the County Home, wish it to be made known that we have no desire to work under a man who has been convicted of abuse of patients and drunkenness."

The petitions were notarized and presented to the commissioners' office and to Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis.

Seven of the employes visited the Courthouse Monday morning to advise the commissioners they and other employes will quit if Russell V. Phillis, County Home superintendent discharged in 1965, is reappointed. The commissioners suggested that they get a petition to show how many others felt the same way.

Phillis, Home Supt. Robert Boyce and Joe Mattevi took the competitive Civil Service examination for the post last Friday. The wife of each took the exam for matron. Test results are expected within a day or two from the Department of State Personnel.

British Police Press Search In Gold Theft

LONDON (AP) — British police watched airports and harbors and alerted ships at sea today for traces of a gas-gun gang who hijacked gold bars worth $2.1 million. It was Britain's biggest bullion theft.

A reward of $140,000 was offered by insurance assessors for information leading to recovery of the 140 gold bars weighing more than 1½ tons, and capture of the bandits.

The gold robbery, staged with speed and precision at noon in a London street Monday, was the most lucrative theft in Britain since the Great Train Robbery netted more than $7 million nearly four years ago.

A Dutch freighter which sailed from London soon after the robbery was boarded by police and customs men in the Thames Estuary after an underworld tip that the loot was aboard. No gold was found.

The international police organization, Interpol, was asked to keep watch at docks and airports overseas. British police said attempts might be made to smuggle the gold to the Far East because it would bring a higher price there.

Scotland Yard said "at least six and possibly 10" bandits made the swift raid on an armored truck delivering bullion for the London Merchant Bank of N.M. Rotschild.

They squirted ammonia from gas guns into the faces of two guards, blackjacked another, bundled all three into the back of the truck and drove off. Four miles away they switched the gold to another vehicle and vanished.

The robbery was discovered when four women passing by heard the guards shouting for help inside the parked truck.

Firemen Aid Proves To Be 'Sudisfactory'

Lawrenceville firemen turned off a washing machine Monday night when asked for help in stopping the overflowing device.

Nine men and one truck answered the alarm, which sounded about 8:20 p.m., to the home of Barbara Owen of Stevenson Ave.

The men unplugged the washer in order to stop the overflow. Mrs. Owen said she received an electrical shock when she tried to turn off the machine.

Western Beaver High School, and indicated construction may begin within two weeks.

The Preston & Williams Co. of New Castle received the contract for general construction with a bid of $526,787.

Supt. Frank Meredith said the total estimated cost of the project was $1,299,820, and the bids were some $200,000 less.

He explained plans for a swimming pool were dropped because the construction would have been much higher than the original estimate.

Formal signing of contracts is scheduled later this week.

OTHER contracts awarded were Columbiana Heating and Ventilating of Columbus, $99,090 for heating; Renick Bros. Co. of Grove City, $40,000 for plumbing; and Prothero Electric Co. of Beaver, $156,859 for electrical construction.

Meredith said the addition will include a double classroom, a regular classroom, an earth and space science laboratory, chemistry and physics rooms, a planetarium, music room, and an auditorium and gymnasium.

Meredith said about $207,798 has been appropriated for future paving, an athletic storage room and other construction. He said there also has been $50,000 appropriation to provide city water through the Industry Water Authority.

Meredith read a letter from the Water Authority stating it would be necessary for the school to pay a tap - in fee of a maximum of $50,000 to secure water for the schools.

Bills totaling $104,238 were ordered paid including $48,960 for salaries; and $30,829 for rental on the Snyder and Fairview Elementary Schools.

all times. A brigade has about 5,000 combat troops.

"The other two brigades and an appropriate share of divisional and nondivisional support units — about 16,000 to 18,000 more troops— totaling approximately two-thirds of a U.S. division force—will be redeployed from Germany to the United States.

"Once a year, all three brigades will be in Germany for exercises involving the entire division. The rotation plan provides that the three brigades would succeed each other on temporary duty in the Federal Republic of Germany—FRG.

"Forces redeployed to the United States will be maintained in a high degree of readiness, and equipment will be maintained in FRG in sufficient quantity and readiness to insure that the forces can be promptly redeployed to Germany.

"The three tactical fighter wings, now based in Germany, are involved in the plan. Five squadrons will be in Germany at all times. Four squadrons of the aircraft will be redeployed to the United States."

The number of Air Force men to be withdrawn to the United States was estimated at about 6,000. State Department officials said the nine squadrons now in Germany operate more than 200 combat planes— Phantoms and Star Fighters—of which something less than 100 would be pulled back to the United States.

Senate Sets 5th Vote On Funds Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fifth vote on the presidential election campaign financing issue, source of a bitter, six-week Senate floor battle, may finally end the struggle.

The Senate already has voted four times on the issue with each side winning twice. Each side predicted victory in today's scheduled fifth vote.

Strong sentiment was building up to end delay in acting on the business incentives tax bill which has been the vehicle for various riders concerning the election subsidy plan.

The tax measure would restore the seven per cent investment credit on machinery and equipment and also accelerated depreciation rates on income-producing buildings.

The bill passed the House March 16, a week after President Johnson submitted it. Businessmen were hopeful the Senate would follow suit quickly. It has been bogged down in the campaign financing hassle since March 23.

The campaign financing plan, enacted last year with Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., as its author, could make available $30 million each in government funds to Democrats and Republicans in next year's presidential campaign.

Flames Destroy Auto Of Industry Motorist

A 1963 compact station wagon owned by James Plance, 41, of Industry was demolished by a fire on Wolf Run Rd., Industry, Wednesday afternoon at 4.

Plance told Industry police he pulled into a field to turn around and the auto became stuck in soft soil. While attempting to back out, the wheels began to spin and the motor area ignited, apparently from alcohol boiling over onto the radiator.

By the time Industry firemen arrived, the vehicle was destroyed, Police Chief Ray Hendershot said.

Maintenance, Repair Work Set By Board

The summer repair and maintenance program for city schools was outlined by John R. Woomer, chairman of the building committee, during a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

In general, all furnaces and roof areas will be inspected and repaired.

One coat of paint will be applied at rooms where needed at Garfield, Horace Mann, Lincoln, McKinley and Central Schools.

It was pointed out these buildings will be abandoned when the new schools are completed and it would be useless to spend any considerable amount of money in repairs.

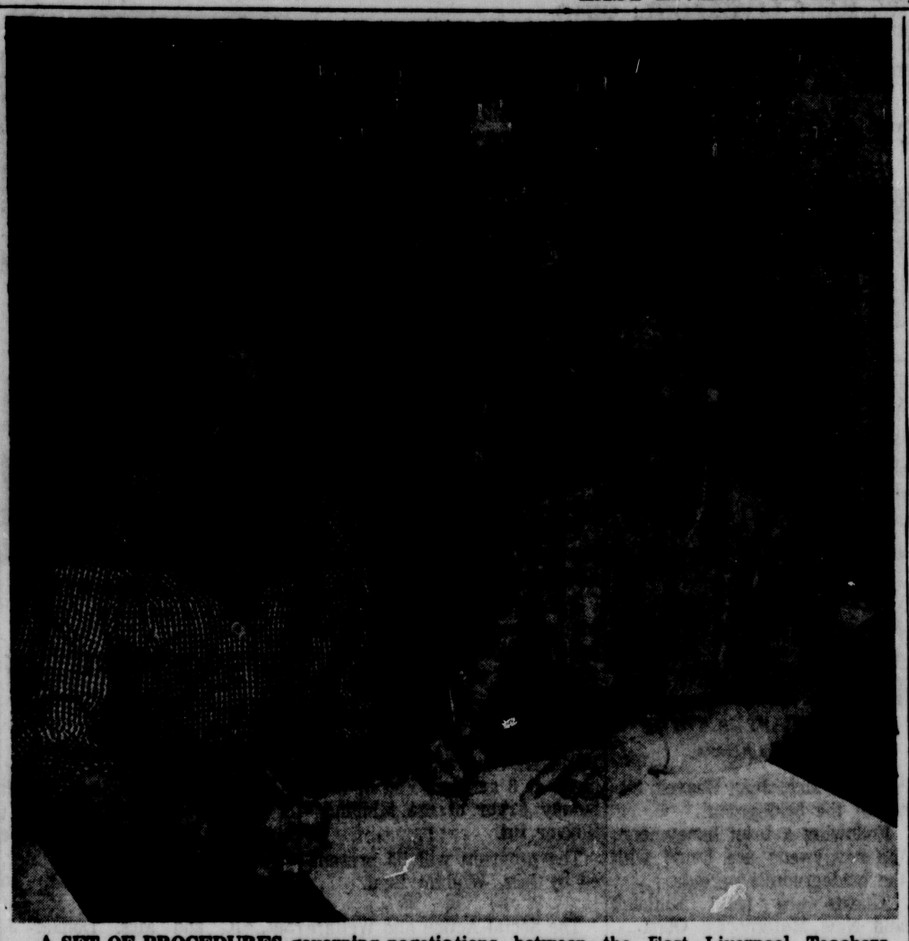
The driveways and parking areas at Westgate and East Junior High Schools will be repaired and repairs made to the blacktop area at LaCroft, along with additional blacktopping for a parking area.

At Westgate, the proposed work program will include painting the wooden eaves, painting the gymnasium, sanding and painting of the seat and footrest areas on the bleachers, painting all metal fan hoods and ventilator ducts, repairing all entrance doors that require work, repairing and refinishing the stage floor, sanding and refinishing classroom doors and the replacing of two skylights.

Prices will be obtained for installing exhaust duct and control systems in the Westgate and East Junior High workshops.

At East Junior, the proposed schedule calls for installing ceramic tile and exhaust fans in the men's and women's rest rooms, painting the wooden eaves, refinishing the stage floor in the gym, repairing and refinishing the stage floor in the audio visual room, installing kickplates and refinishing the classroom doors, repairing and refinishing entrance doors, replacing the entrance mat, repairing and replacing rollers on the bleachers, repairing plaster, painting the boiler room, basement ceilings and all metal fan hoods and ventilator ducts.

None of the project is large enough to require the board to advertise for bids, but Supt. Paul Blair said the various contractors and tradesmen will be asked to submit prices on the work.



A SET OF PROCEDURES governing negotiations between the East Liverpool Teachers Association and the Board of Education was signed Monday night. Shown affixing their signatures to the agreement are Mrs. Gyla Nicely, left, ELTA president, and Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, board president, as Mrs. Mary Ruth Bebout looks on. Mrs. Bebout headed the teachers' committee that drew up the agreement.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Agreement Signed

Teachers And Board Set Negotiations Procedures

An agreement for negotiation procedures between the East Liverpool Board of Education and the East Liverpool Teachers Association was signed during a meeting of the board Monday night.

This is the first contract of its kind signed between the teachers and the board here.

The agreement, which shall remain in effect through May 1, 1970, spells out the principles of the profession, the procedures for negotiations, the handling of a written agreement and meditation and appeal procedures.

Mrs. Gyla Nicely, ELTA president, and Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, board president, signed the agreement after it was approved by the board. Postmaster Samuel Brown cast the only vote against the plan.

THE BOARD recognizes the association, affiliated with the Ohio Education Association and the National Education Association, as the sole agency for negotiating on behalf of the teachers.

Under the agreement, a negotiating committee and a committee from the board, along with the superintendent, shall hold annual meetings to discuss budget determinations and other areas of mutual concern. The annual meetings will be held three months prior to final budget approval by the board.

Other meetings may be called if announcement is made in writing by either party.

When an agreement has been reached, it will be prepared as a joint recommendation and submitted to both the board and the ELTA. When both groups approve, it will be presented for formal adoption by the board and announced publicly.

In the event an agreement cannot be reached, a Board of Review will be created.

BOTH THE school board and the ELTA will select members for the review board from a list of nominees submitted by any one of four groups — National Education Association, Ohio Educational Association, Ohio School Boards Association and Ohio Association of School Administrators.

These two members then will select a third person to serve as chairman from one of the professional organizations. The review board will hold hearings to effect an agreement.

All hearings conducted by the Board of Review shall be in closed sessions and no news release shall be made concerning progress of hearings.

If an agreement is not reached within a reasonable time after a report from the Board of Review and the problem is within the jurisdiction of the State Superintendent, either party may request him to review the problem and make recommendations.

Any costs involved will be equally shared by the Board of Education and the ELTA.

Either party wanting a change in the negotiations agreement shall notify the other at least 30 days prior to May 1 of any year and changes may be made at any time by mutual consent.

BROWN opposed the agreement because of the clauses stating that if negotiations reach an impasse and have to go to a Board of Review that only four organizations are listed for selection of such a board. He also cited the section that states no news releases shall be made on the hearings by the Board of Review.

Brown said he feels there may be other organizations or individuals whose services could be used in such a situation, but the agreement limits this.

He also said the board has been condemned in the past for the way information is disseminated to the public and feels the Board of Review should issue information to the news media.

The members of the negotiating committee that helped write the agreement included Mrs. Mary Ruth Bebout, chairman, Mrs. Marie Graham, Bruce Roush, Mrs. Phoebe Giambroni, Mrs. Hazel Neiser, Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard, James Martin and Miss Helen McGregor.

MRS. BEBOUT, in answering Brown, said that prior to the step calling for a Board of Review, either side can use any consultants they feel necessary. Beyond this, certainly no one is better able to size up the situation than those from the professional groups mentioned, she said.

Relative to news releases, she said the public will be aware of the points involved in an impasse and that the decisions or recommendations of the Board of Review will be made a part of the ecord when given to the ELTA and the board of education.

Richard Smith, board member, said in view of the problems faced by other school districts "we are fortunate to have teachers foresighted enough to want to do something," citing the fact good communications both ways offset many problems.

Mrs. Nicely thanked the committee and board for the work on the agreement.

Mrs. Pearl Faye Dyce, 18, of Carter Rd., East Fairfield, is in satisfactory condition today at Salem City Hospital, where she was admitted Friday noon with a gunshot wound of the right chest.

If you'd like homeowner's protection that goes farther than most—that pays your mortgage when you can't...

Come what may, we think a single plan should cover everything.

Most homeowner's insurance protects against fire, wind, and theft — but ignores one of the most frequent ways people lose their homes: foreclosure.

When a family loses its home, it's nearly always because the breadwinner becomes disabled or dies and the family can't keep up the mortgage payments.

That's why Nationwide created a special plan to protect your mortgage as well as your house.

Nationwide's Security Plan for Homeowners actually gives you three policies: life insurance that protects your mortgage if you die; health insurance that protects your mortgage if you're disabled; fire, wind, theft, and liability insurance.

To get such complete protection, you'd normally have to go to more than one agent. The man from Nationwide offers a plan that gives you three policies in one plan from one man—even lets you pay in one check.

It was pointed out these buildings will be abandoned when the new schools are completed and it would be useless to spend any considerable amount of money in repairs.

The driveways and parking areas at Westgate and East Junior High Schools will be repaired and repairs made to the blacktop area at LaCroft, along with additional blacktopping for a parking area.

At Westgate, the proposed work program will include painting the wooden eaves, painting the gymnasium, sanding and painting of the seat and footrest areas on the bleachers, painting all metal fan hoods and ventilator ducts, repairing all entrance doors that require work, repairing and refinishing the stage floor, sanding and refinishing classroom doors and the replacing of two skylights.

Prices will be obtained for installing exhaust duct and control systems in the Westgate and East Junior High workshops.

At East Junior, the proposed schedule calls for installing ceramic tile and exhaust fans in the men's and women's rest rooms, painting the wooden eaves, refinishing the stage floor in the gym, repairing and refinishing the stage floor in the audio visual room, installing kickplates and refinishing the classroom doors, repairing and refinishing entrance doors, replacing the entrance mat, repairing and replacing rollers on the bleachers, repairing plaster, painting the boiler room, basement ceilings and all metal fan hoods and ventilator ducts.

None of the project is large enough to require the board to advertise for bids, but Supt. Paul Blair said the various contractors and tradesmen will be asked to submit prices on the work.

Woman Reported As Satisfactory In Pistol Wound

Mrs. Pearl Faye Dyce, 18, of Carter Rd., East Fairfield, is in satisfactory condition today at Salem City Hospital, where she was admitted Friday noon with a gunshot wound of the right chest.

Sheriff's Deputy Howard Gray said the young wife told him a .22-caliber pistol discharged accidentally as she examined it.

This confirmed the account she gave her husband, James F. Dyce, 22, and the couple's parents while they waited for an ambulance Friday.

Gray said Mrs. Dyce told him her husband worked the night before and was asleep on the bed. She said she was lying on the bed examining the pistol, bought for her protection while he was at work, and it went off accidentally.

Mrs. Dyce is expecting her first child in four months.

Agreement Signed

Teachers And Board Set Negotiations Procedures

An agreement for negotiation procedures between the East Liverpool Board of Education and the East Liverpool Teachers Association was signed during a meeting of the board Monday night.

This is the first contract of its kind signed between the teachers and the board here.

The agreement, which shall remain in effect through May 1, 1970, spells out the principles of the profession, the procedures for negotiations, the handling of a written agreement and meditation and appeal procedures.

Mrs. Gyla Nicely, ELTA president, and Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, board president, signed the agreement after it was approved by the board. Postmaster Samuel Brown cast the only vote against the plan.

THE BOARD recognizes the association, affiliated with the Ohio Education Association and the National Education Association, as the sole agency for negotiating on behalf of the teachers.

Under the agreement, a negotiating committee and a committee from the board, along with the superintendent, shall hold annual meetings to discuss budget determinations and other areas of mutual concern. The annual meetings will be held three months prior to final budget approval by the board.

Other meetings may be called if announcement is made in writing by either party.

When an agreement has been reached, it will be prepared as a joint recommendation and submitted to both the board and the ELTA. When both groups approve, it will be presented for formal adoption by the board and announced publicly.

In the event an agreement cannot be reached, a Board of Review will be created.

BOTH THE school board and the ELTA will select members for the review board from a list of nominees submitted by any one of four groups — National Education Association, Ohio Educational Association, Ohio School Boards Association and Ohio Association of School Administrators.

These two members then will select a third person to serve as chairman from one of the professional organizations. The review board will hold hearings to effect an agreement.

All hearings conducted by the Board of Review shall be in closed sessions and no news release shall be made concerning progress of hearings.

If an agreement is not reached within a reasonable time after a report from the Board of Review and the problem is within the jurisdiction of the State Superintendent, either party may request him to review the problem and make recommendations.

Any costs involved will be equally shared by the Board of Education and the ELTA.

Either party wanting a change in the negotiations agreement shall notify the other at least 30 days prior to May 1 of any year and changes may be made at any time by mutual consent.

BROWN opposed the agreement because of the clauses stating that if negotiations reach an impasse and have to go to a Board of Review that only four organizations are listed for selection of such a board. He also cited the section that states no news releases shall be made on the hearings by the Board of Review.

Brown said he feels there may be other organizations or individuals whose services could be used in such a situation, but the agreement limits this.

He also said the board has been condemned in the past for the way information is disseminated to the public and feels the Board of Review should issue information to the news media.

The members of the negotiating committee that helped write the agreement included Mrs. Mary Ruth Bebout, chairman, Mrs. Marie Graham, Bruce Roush, Mrs. Phoebe Giambroni, Mrs. Hazel Neiser, Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard, James Martin and Miss Helen McGregor.

MRS. BEBOUT, in answering Brown, said that prior to the step calling for a Board of Review, either side can use any consultants they feel necessary. Beyond this, certainly no one is better able to size up the situation than those from the professional groups mentioned, she said.

Relative to news releases, she said the public will be aware of the points involved in an impasse and that the decisions or recommendations of the Board of Review will be made a part of the ecord when given to the ELTA and the board of education.

Richard Smith, board member, said in view of the problems faced by other school districts "we are fortunate to have teachers foresighted enough to want to do something," citing the fact good communications both ways offset many problems.

Mrs. Nicely thanked the committee and board for the work on the agreement.

If you'd like homeowner's protection that goes farther than most—that pays your mortgage when you can't...

Come what may, we think a single plan should cover everything.

Most homeowner's insurance protects against fire, wind, and theft — but ignores one of the most frequent ways people lose their homes: foreclosure.

When a family loses its home, it's nearly always because the breadwinner becomes disabled or dies and the family can't keep up the mortgage payments.

That's why Nationwide created a special plan to protect your mortgage as well as your house.

Nationwide's Security Plan for Homeowners actually gives you three policies: life insurance that protects your mortgage if you die; health insurance that protects your mortgage if you're disabled; fire, wind, theft, and liability insurance.

To get such complete protection, you'd normally have to go to more than one agent. The man from Nationwide offers a plan that gives you three policies in one plan from one man—even lets you pay in one check.

SPRING GREEN

Being a jeweler, and being continually interested and amazed by the gems to be found in our mineral kingdom, spring always brings to mind the vibrant green of a fine emerald. May, especially, is an appropriate time to talk about emeralds for it is the birthstone for the month according to the official list of the American Gem Society and Jewelry Industry Council.

According to legend, emerald was dedicated to the goddess of Love, Venus. It has always been coveted, but never more so than today when the supply of fine genuine emeralds is declining. At the time when Cleopatra was gifting her subjects with emeralds carved with her likeness, the gems were being mined in Egypt. After this field was played out, emeralds were discovered in the Urals and in Columbia, South America. However, these mines, too, are just about depleted. For this reason, emeralds of good quality will often command a higher per carat price than diamonds.

Small emeralds are attractive set in brooches and rings combined with diamond and sapphires. Larger emerald stones are a great treasure in a ring or necklace. Many of these gems have minute inclusions inside the body of the stone. The French call this "en jardin," garden of the emerald, and consider these "flaws" to be very lovely and soothing to the eye. If budget minded, you may be interested in seeing our rich green synthetic emeralds which are not an imitation, but man's exact duplication of nature's beauty. They are quite reasonable.

Odd Facts

Snow - crowned Mt. Damavand soars almost 19,000 feet above Iran's fertile plains. Among the many legends about the mountain are that the prophet Zoroaster lived on its slopes; the Simurgh, fabulous bird of wisdom and great size, lived on its summit; and Faridun, a folk hero, chained the tyrant Zahak in one of its caves.

Ohio citizens have invested about $150 per capita in public water plants.

SPRING GREEN

Being a jeweler, and being continually interested and amazed by the gems to be found in our mineral kingdom, spring always brings to mind the vibrant green of a fine emerald. May, especially, is an appropriate time to talk about emeralds for it is the birthstone for the month according to the official list of the American Gem Society and Jewelry Industry Council.

According to legend, emerald was dedicated to the goddess of Love, Venus. It has always been coveted, but never more so than today when the supply of fine genuine emeralds is declining. At the time when Cleopatra was gifting her subjects with emeralds carved with her likeness, the gems were being mined in Egypt. After this field was played out, emeralds were discovered in the Urals and in Columbia, South America. However, these mines, too, are just about depleted. For this reason, emeralds of good quality will often command a higher per carat price than diamonds.

Small emeralds are attractive set in brooches and rings combined with diamond and sapphires. Larger emerald stones are a great treasure in a ring or necklace. Many of these gems have minute inclusions inside the body of the stone. The French call this "en jardin," garden of the emerald, and consider these "flaws" to be very lovely and soothing to the eye. If budget minded, you may be interested in seeing our rich-green synthetic emeralds which are not an imitation, but man's exact duplication of nature's beauty. They are quite reasonable.

Strike Won't Hurt For Awhile, Beatty Says

Progress Report Given On Schools

A change order for the water pump house at the new high school and elementary building now under construction to gain advantage of a new fire insurance rate was approved by the East Liverpool Board of Education Monday night. The monthly progress report also was heard.

Robert F. Beatty, architect, presented the plans and specifications for the change, which will increase pressure to the fire hydrants, and recommended the revisions be made.

The Ohio Inspection Bureau set the rate for the buildings and in its report said that if the pump changes were made a lower rate could be obtained.

THE TOTAL cost of the change will be $9,177, but it will mean a saving of $2,461 annually in the insurance premium. The present contractors will do the work, with additional money to come from the contingency fund.

The Potters Construction Co. was authorized to do its extra work at $587, Sayre Electric Co., $930, and Conti Plumbing & Heating, $7,660.

Beatty said that although the steelworkers and plumbers went on strike Monday it will not mean a delay at present in the building program.

The operating unions, such as cranemen, also are on strike with the steelworkers.

It will be amost two months before the strike will affect us, Beatty said, pointing out the iron workers and plumbers had been working double time the last month and this pushed the job ahead on the main academic building.

THE MASONRY contractor has begun work and the building is in such shape that all masonry work may be erected to the third floor of the main building, it was pointed out.

All the structural steel for the main academic building is completed in two sections and the first two floors completed on the third section.

All bar joists have been installed and are welded into place with the exception of the roof. The windstorm of April 22 blew approximately 12 joists to the ground, damaging some beyond repair. New ones have been ordered.

The concrete floor on the second floor of Section 3 has been poured and the balance of the floors will be poured, beginning either today or Wednesday.

Most of the roughing-in plumbing is done; the windows for the main building are scheduled for delivery in June; all excavating work on the gymnasium-auditorium is complete and all footings poured, and work is progressing on the installation of the retaining walls for the gym area. If the iron workers who install reinforcing rods go on strike, this will be delayed, however.

BEATTY SAID in view of the fact that the steelworkers who install reinforcing rods have an international agreement, there is a possibility they may be permitted to work even though the structural steelworkers are on strike.

The interior beams and columns in the shop area are being poured and should be completed this week or early next week. Precast concrete for the shop has been fabricated and will be delivered to the site and erected as soon as the beams and columns in the first floor have been poured.

The site grading is approximately 85 per cent complete. The excavating contractor was called off the high school site to start excavation of the LaCroft Elementary school, but this will not delay the high school construction, he reported. Inclement weather has slowed the LaCroft grading.

On the North Elementary buildings, the masonry work is well under way, with the masonry work on the main section completed and ready to receive a floor treatment. The electrical contractor is working on installation of underground conduits. Wall insulation has been poured up to the ceiling height of the first floor.

At East Elementary, the footings and foundations in the kitchen - multi - purpose area are being constructed. Mechanical trade groups have not yet started work on this school.

THE BOARD received letters from all contractors on the LaCroft and East Junior High buildings asking for an extension of time, since the project was delayed almost five months by a court action relative to the general contract.

The Modany Brothers of Midland were formally awarded the general contract at the last board meeting. The board will send the letters for extension from the other contractors to the State Department of Education.

Beatty presented plans and specifications for bleachers at the high school gym and recommended action be taken soon on obtaining bids and awarding a contract. He said the cost will be cheaper now than next year.

MAY 1 being Law Day or Loyalty Day, Bowman told the citizens the law is for their protection. He told them it is their duty to vote and respect the law.

In conclusion, Judge Buzzard said, "Citizenship is a two-way street; you gain considerable by becoming a citizen, but at the same time you take on certain responsibilities." He said he believes persons choosing U. S. citizenship give more thought to what citizenship means "than those of us who were born to it." "Serve on public boards, be active in community affairs, put yourself in the main stream of community life," the judge urged.

tions for British membership inevitably will be lengthy. The most optimistic Britons do not expect a successful conclusion before 1969.

Wilson was expected to make plain in his Commons statement that while Britain looks for no special favors, it will need time to fit in with EEC's trading rules. Aides said the prime minister intends also to stress that Britain's Commonwealth and other partners will need a period of transition to adjust to losing their commercial privileges in dealings with this country.

A formal letter of application for membership probably will be dispatched later this week by Foreign Secretary George Brown to West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, chairman of the EEC's Council of Ministers.

Wilson and his colleagues are hopeful that the leaders of the Common Market nations will take up the application at their summit meeting in Rome later this month. De Gaulle, however, has been reported unwilling to take part in discussions of the British application at this stage.

Wilson's path to the new application was made easier than predicted by a lack of unity among members of his Labor party who oppose joining the Common Market.

Defense Puts Withholding Ban On News

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Defense Department ban on withholding news stories from military publications has won praise from Congress' chief opponent of news management.

Chairman John E. Moss, D-Calif., of the House Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee, lauded the policy, calling it "a positive action to help deter the nonsensical military meddling with the free flow of information" to the public and servicemen.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara issued the ban against tampering Monday, saying "news management and meddling with the news will not be tolerated, either in external information or internal troop information."

In a memorandum to the services and defense agencies, McNamara said the only exception was information affecting the national security. The directive was said to represent no change in external information policy.

"The calculated withholding of unfavorable news stories and wire service reports from troop information publications such as Stars and Stripes, or the censorship of news stories or broadcasts over such outlets as Armed Forces Radio and Television Service, is prohibited," McNamara specified.

During Meeting Of Board

Chester Water Work Set; Superintendent Warned

Approval of nearly $1,500 in repairs to the 1st St. emergency water pumping station and a warning that future negligence could mean the dismissal of Wate. Department Supt. Jess Selmon marked the meeting of the Chester Water and Sewage Board Monday night.

Commenting on conditions he found at the pumping station during a visit Monday, Mayor Burton Ward, board chairman, declared, "If this negligence continues, I will recommend that action be taken (dismissal of the superintendent)."

THE MATTER came up when Ward reviewed conditions he found at the pump house, which has not been used since July 26, 1965. He pointed out that date was the last appearing on a sheet at the station used to list tests performed on the equipment. As a result of the negligence, he added, the $1500 repairs are needed immediately.

Ward pointed out the pumping station is used only in emergencies, but said he doubted whether it pumped any water during the bakery fire last year, because of corroded conditions.

Board Member Charles Kology read a letter from the Pennsylvania Drilling Co. of Pittsburgh, which stated the work would involve removal of the pump, capable of producing 500 gallons a minute, checking it, making necessary repairs and redeveloping the existing well.

Sewage plant operator Leonard Cowey said Daniel A. Miller, a representative of the drilling firm, visited Chester yesterday and indicated the pump must be pulled, oiled, repacked and an estimated 3-inch crust removed from the well.

Cowey said he was told by Miller that the figure quoted the board is contingent upon there being no other problems. The actual estimate is $225 a day, or $1,350 for the five or six days required to complete the repairs.

BOARD members decided to have the company install a permanent steel beam above the pump while repairs are being made. This is expected to bring the over-all cost close to $1,500.

The board members noted that while no other bid was received, Pennsylvania Drilling had performed all previous work satisfactorily.

When questioned by Ward, Cowey noted that the emergency pump will supply the entire community with water for about one day, provided there is no abnormally large consumption.

Jack Allison, board member, said that while he didn't like to spend $1,500, the city needs the protection the pump provides. With that statement, he moved repairs be authorized and a man, either an outsider or one from the water department, be stationed at the site to supervise the work and submit a full written report on conditions found and repairs made.

Cowey said he was told the work will start within five days from the time the company is notified.

Allison asked that a report also be made on the condition of the city's water meters — how many are operable and how many are in need of repair.

KOLOGY SAID he feels a school is needed to train people in how to properly read the meters. He cited an incident where an elderly couple, with no bath tub in their home and who sent their washing out, was billed $28. He noted that no leaks were found in the water system at the home.

Allison said the city has a terrific investment in new meters and he doesn't believe they're being used.

Board members were told May 13 has been set as the date for cleaning the reservoir.

Cowey reported lightning struck the sewage plant last week and shut down one of the air compressors. He said he needed some authority to make necessary repairs and purchase equipment to keep the plant in order, since he was getting no cooperation from the water department head. He added, "I can't run the plant without some authority".

Members agreed he should see that the plant was properly maintained and if anyone questioned him, Cowey was instructed to refer them to one of the board members.

Ward said, "I don't like to hit a man while he's down, but this has been brewing for a month now." He referred to the fact that Selmon is presently a patient in the Veterans Hospital at Pittsburgh.

THE BOARD authorized payment of $26 on a bill submitted by John Duffy of Phyllis Ave. He told the board when he returned to his home after being away for a few days he found some two inches of water in his cellar and upon calling a plumber determined the trouble existed some 90 feet from his home.

This, he said, makes the matter the city's responsibility. He added it cost him over $100 to repair the cellar and he said he had to dispose of some carpets.

Mrs. E. W. Hewitt of 126 California Ave. asked that something be done to alleviate the water which backs up into her basement when there is a heavy rain. Kology noted the house is nearly level with the city's sewer lines and will drain off normally, but not when there is an excessive amount of water in the six-inch line. Mrs. Hewitt said she already has removed her drain spouts from the sewer line and suggested that if everyone above her on the line would do the same the problem would be solved.

She said the sewer was laid 50 years ago and was adequate for the 10 houses that then stood, but now is unsufficient to carry the heavy load created with the new construction in the area. She told the board members a water department employe informed her the line was not adequate for the job required.

Board Member Percy Willison said, "If they put new sewer lines in, we wouldn't have to repair the old ones."

Two area men were injured when the car in which they were riding struck an embankment on Park Way Ext. Monday at 7:45 p. m.

The Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Robert Scott Ryan, 21, of R. D. 3 was driving east when the car went off the right side and hit the embankment, damaging the front of the 1967 coach.

A passenger, Gary A. Bookman, 22, of R. D. 2 was injured along with Ryan. Ryan was treated at City Hospital for contusions of the right elbow and knee. Bookman suffered contusions of the right hand and face.

The patrol was assisted in its investigation by St. Clair Township Constable Dick Wright.

Mrs. Delores Fleeson, 48, of 343 E. Lyons Ave., East Palestine, and Dale Franklin Burbick, 27, of Columbiana R. D. 1 were admitted to Salem City Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered when their cars collided at the intersection of Routes 14 and 14-A on the outskirts of Columbiana Monday at 1:05 p. m.

Officers said Burbick was headed south and Mrs. Fleeson was driving west. Both cars were damaged heavily.

Trucks operated by Elmer Pollock, 24, of Salem R. D. 1 and Clem Franklin Hull, 34, of Lisbon R. D. 1 collided at the intersection of Valley and Georgetown Rds., almost five miles south of Salem yesterday at 9:15 a. m.

Officers said Pollock stopped at the intersection and then pulled into the path of Hull. Hull's dump truck traveled 200 feet after the impact and then tipped over on its side. Pollock was cited for failure to yield the right - of - way.

An estimated $500 million would be required to provide the additional municipal sewage-treatment facilities now needed in Ohio.

Roof Topples As Car Rams Lisbon Home

LISBON — When a car hit 123 Jerome St. at 1:25 a. m. today, owner W. E. (Bill) Hiscox thought it was a Minnesota tornado he had watched on TV before going to bed.

The 1963 sedan was a total loss and Hiscox says house repairs will cost $1,000. The vehicle and house are insured.

Hiscox said the impact knocked him out of bed. Stumbling to the front window overlooking the porch, he couldn't see the porch roof.

Opening the front door downstairs he saw a car on the porch with the roof down on top of it. Only one corner of the roof remained attached to the house.

A hissing noise and smell of gas gave evidence the car had broken the gas meter by the front porch. Hiscox got his wife and grandson out of the house. There was no fire and repairmen shut off the line in 15 or 20 minutes.

Hiscox said some timbers from the porch dented the rear of his car in the driveway west of the house.

Police charged the driver, Homer McPherson, 54, of 604 E. Lincoln Way, with reckless operation. McPherson was on his way home from work at Columbiana and was driving west on Jerome (Route 164). He told police an eastbound car crowded him over the curbing and he could not stop before hitting the house. He was not hurt.

Britain once considered the 34-square-mile island of Ascension, in the South Atlantic, as a man-of-war with a naval officer as governor. Rhodes reported on plans for three new street lights and relocation of two others. He said the Ohio Edison Co. has been given authorization to proceed with the work.

Bills totaling $358 were paid.

The finance committee headed by Glenn Baker reported proposed pay increases for street employes cannot be authorized at present due to fund limitations, but it is hoped such increases can be provided in next year's budget.

The next meeting will be June 5.

During Meeting Of Board

Chester Water Work Set; Superintendent Warned

Approval of nearly $1,500 in repairs to the 1st St. emergency water pumping station and a warning that future negligence could mean the dismissal of Wate. Department Supt. Jess Selmon marked the meeting of the Chester Water and Sewage Board Monday night.

Commenting on conditions he found at the pumping station during a visit Monday, Mayor Burton Ward, board chairman, declared, "If this negligence continues, I will recommend that action be taken (dismissal of the superintendent)."

THE MATTER came up when Ward reviewed conditions he found at the pump house, which has not been used since July 26, 1965. He pointed out that date was the last appearing on a sheet at the station used to list tests performed on the equipment. As a result of the negligence, he added, the $1500 repairs are needed immediately.

Ward pointed out the pumping station is used only in emergencies, but said he doubted whether it pumped any water during the bakery fire last year, because of corroded conditions.

Board Member Charles Kology read a letter from the Pennsylvania Drilling Co. of Pittsburgh, which stated the work would involve removal of the pump, capable of producing 500 gallons a minute, checking it, making necessary repairs and redeveloping the existing well.

Sewage plant operator Leonard Cowey said Daniel A. Miller, a representative of the drilling firm, visited Chester yesterday and indicated the pump must be pulled, oiled, repacked and an estimated 3-inch crust removed from the well.

Cowey said he was told by Miller that the figure quoted the board is contingent upon there being no other problems. The actual estimate is $225 a day, or $1,350 for the five or six days required to complete the repairs.

BOARD members decided to have the company install a permanent steel beam above the pump while repairs are being made. This is expected to bring the over-all cost close to $1,500.

The board members noted that while no other bid was received, Pennsylvania Drilling had performed all previous work satisfactorily.

When questioned by Ward, Cowey noted that the emergency pump will supply the entire community with water for about one day, provided there is no abnormally large consumption.

Jack Allison, board member, said that while he didn't like to spend $1,500, the city needs the protection the pump provides. With that statement, he moved repairs be authorized and a man, either an outsider or one from the water department, be stationed at the site to supervise the work and submit a full written report on conditions found and repairs made.

Cowey said he was told the work will start within five days from the time the company is notified.

Allison asked that a report also be made on the condition of the city's water meters — how many are operable and how many are in need of repair.

KOLOGY SAID he feels a school is needed to train people in how to properly read the meters. He cited an incident where an elderly couple, with no bath tub in their home and who sent their washing out, was billed $28. He noted that no leaks were found in the water system at the home.

Allison said the city has a terrific investment in new meters and he doesn't believe they're being used.

Board members were told May 13 has been set as the date for cleaning the reservoir.

Cowey reported lightning struck the sewage plant last week and shut down one of the air compressors. He said he needed some authority to make necessary repairs and purchase equipment to keep the plant in order, since he was getting no cooperation from the water department head. He added, "I can't run the plant without some authority".

Members agreed he should see that the plant was properly maintained and if anyone questioned him, Cowey was instructed to refer them to one of the board members.

Ward said, "I don't like to hit a man while he's down, but this has been brewing for a month now." He referred to the fact that Selmon is presently a patient in the Veterans Hospital at Pittsburgh.

Salem Gets OK For Water Tank

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court ruling has cleared the way for Salem to build a 300,000-gallon water tank on N. Roosevelt in the northeast section of the city.

In an opinion released Monday, Judge Raymond S. Buzzard denied a Salem couple's petition that the court restrain the city from building the tank next to their property in a residential area.

Edward J. and Mary L. Scheuring of 355 N. Roosevelt filed the suit March 1, 1966, claiming the construction of the tower would violate the zoning ordinance. They also asked for damages. The court's ruling was on the injunction only, leaving the second cause of action in abeyance.

Judge Buzzard held that the water tank is needed in the area and that it is an essential service for public health and safety. He found that the zoning board did not abuse its discretion in giving the utilities department permission to construct the tower.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—When installing rubber or asphalt tile, how can I make the job of cutting some of these squares easier?

A.—By heating the tile square first. An infra - red lamp is good for this. In the case of rubber tile, just one minute under the lamp makes for easy trimming with either a knife or scissors. Asphalt tile takes somewhat longer under the lamp to make it pliable enough for cutting.

Q. — What causes my iron to stick to the clothing as I press it?

A. — Either too much starch, clothes not properly rinsed, or dirt on the bottom of your iron can cause this. If it's the bottom of your iron that's at fault, rub it with a damp cloth when cool. Polish with a dry cloth. For stubborn cases, use silver polish, or run the iron over a little table salt spread on waxed paper. In the case of rayons and other synthetic fabrics, too hot an iron will cause sticking.

Voting Light, With Write-In Activity Brisk

Along with an earlier movement to have Atty. William Bush's name written in on the Republican ticket for solicitor, a new movement was afoot by some Democrats to elect him.

A committee of three — James Lindsey, Edward Welch, and a third unnamed Democrat — are reported to have mailed out circulars and sample ballots urging Bush's name be inserted on the Democratic ballot.

Some political observers regard the plan as an effort to permit Bush to run as an Independent against incumbent Delmar T. O'Hara in the November general election.

Officials at the Columbiana County Election Board would not comment on the validity of the move until after today's balloting.

The state's election laws, however, prohibit anyone "affiliated with one party" to run on the ticket of another party.

Meanwhile, Wellsville Republicans are reportedly attempting an eleventh - hour campaign to write in former mayor William Shoub. There is no Republican candidate for mayor and Shoub held the office in Wellsville for eight years. He is president of the Columbiana County Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Precinct workers said that following several hours of polling, the turnout remains light.

Primary

crats voting in the first four hours today. Four years ago, the precinct showed 30 Republicans and 15 Democrats at the same time.

Precinct 3-C, voting at Central Fire Station, had 24 forenoon votes today — 13 Republicans and 11 Democrats. Four years ago at the same time, it showed 11 Republicans and seven Democrats.

Precinct 3-F, which votes at a Lincoln Ave. home, listed seven Republicans and 11 Democrats in the first four hours this morning. In 1963, it reported five Republican ballots and seven Democratic ballots.

Precinct 4-C, voting on Jefferson St., reported 13 Republican ballots and four Democratic ballots this morning. Four years ago, the count was virtually the same — 11 Republicans and three Democrats.

East Liverpool's forenoon vote in 1961 hit 644 and the total turnout for the day was 3,432. In 1959, when 1,100 forenoon votes were cast, the city's total vote was 4,163.

The city showed 1,200 forenoon ballots at the 1957 municipal primaries. The total vote was 5,800. In 1955, with 717 forenoon votes, the total vote was 3,672. The city showed 1,030 morning ballots in 1953. The day's total vote was 4,311.

Any calculation of the relationship between the morning vote and the expected total turnout today will be affected by one major factor — the polls opened at 6:30 a.m. today, rather than 7:30, as had been customary in May primaries for many years. The change resulted from adoption of statewide fast time.

Polling places throughout the county will close at 6:30 tonight.

The County Election Board will make its traditional "flash" count of East Liverpool mayoralty returns as soon as the polls close. Precinct staffs will count the Republican and Democratic mayoralty figures first, then phone the totals immediately to the Election Board. The "flash count" usually is finished in less than an hour after the polls close.

The Election Board's staff expects countywide returns will be complete comparatively early tonight, probably well before midnight.

In the comparable election in 1965, all returns had arrived at the board's office at 11 p. m. and the entire unofficial count was completed at 11:30. East Liverpool totals were complete at 10:30.

In the 1961 primaries, when only 101 county precincts were involved, the complete, unofficial count was finished at 10 p.m.

The fact the polls close at 6:30 tonight, instead of 7:30 as in the past, also will help in an early completion of the count.

In an opinion released Monday, Judge Raymond S. Buzzard denied a Salem couple's petition that the court restrain the city from building the tank next to their property in a residential area.

Edward J. and Mary L. Scheuring of 355 N. Roosevelt filed the suit March 1, 1966, claiming the construction of the tower would violate the zoning ordinance. They also asked for damages. The court's ruling was on the injunction only, leaving the second cause of action in abeyance.

Judge Buzzard held that the water tank is needed in the area and that it is an essential service for public health and safety. He found that the zoning board did not abuse its discretion in giving the utilities department permission to construct the tower.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—When installing rubber or asphalt tile, how can I make the job of cutting some of these squares easier?

A.—By heating the tile square first. An infra - red lamp is good for this. In the case of rubber tile, just one minute under the lamp makes for easy trimming with either a knife or scissors. Asphalt tile takes somewhat longer under the lamp to make it pliable enough for cutting.

Q. — What causes my iron to stick to the clothing as I press it?

A. — Either too much starch, clothes not properly rinsed, or dirt on the bottom of your iron can cause this. If it's the bottom of your iron that's at fault, rub it with a damp cloth when cool. Polish with a dry cloth. For stubborn cases, use silver polish, or run the iron over a little table salt spread on waxed paper. In the case of rayons and other synthetic fabrics, too hot an iron will cause sticking.

Voting Light, With Write-In Activity Brisk

Along with an earlier movement to have Atty. William Bush's name written in on the Republican ticket for solicitor, a new movement was afoot by some Democrats to elect him.

A committee of three — James Lindsey, Edward Welch, and a third unnamed Democrat — are reported to have mailed out circulars and sample ballots urging Bush's name be inserted on the Democratic ballot.

Some political observers regard the plan as an effort to permit Bush to run as an Independent against incumbent Delmar T. O'Hara in the November general election.

Officials at the Columbiana County Election Board would not comment on the validity of the move until after today's balloting.

The state's election laws, however, prohibit anyone "affiliated with one party" to run on the ticket of another party.

Meanwhile, Wellsville Republicans are reportedly attempting an eleventh - hour campaign to write in former mayor William Shoub. There is no Republican candidate for mayor and Shoub held the office in Wellsville for eight years. He is president of the Columbiana County Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Precinct workers said that following several hours of polling, the turnout remains light.

Primary

crats voting in the first four hours today. Four years ago, the precinct showed 30 Republicans and 15 Democrats at the same time.

Precinct 3-C, voting at Central Fire Station, had 24 forenoon votes today — 13 Republicans and 11 Democrats. Four years ago at the same time, it showed 11 Republicans and seven Democrats.

Precinct 3-F, which votes at a Lincoln Ave. home, listed seven Republicans and 11 Democrats in the first four hours this morning. In 1963, it reported five Republican ballots and seven Democratic ballots.

Precinct 4-C, voting on Jefferson St., reported 13 Republican ballots and four Democratic ballots this morning. Four years ago, the count was virtually the same — 11 Republicans and three Democrats.

East Liverpool's forenoon vote in 1961 hit 644 and the total turnout for the day was 3,432. In 1959, when 1,100 forenoon votes were cast, the city's total vote was 4,163.

The city showed 1,200 forenoon ballots at the 1957 municipal primaries. The total vote was 5,800. In 1955, with 717 forenoon votes, the total vote was 3,672. The city showed 1,030 morning ballots in 1953. The day's total vote was 4,311.

Any calculation of the relationship between the morning vote and the expected total turnout today will be affected by one major factor — the polls opened at 6:30 a.m. today, rather than 7:30, as had been customary in May primaries for many years. The change resulted from adoption of statewide fast time.

Polling places throughout the county will close at 6:30 tonight.

The County Election Board will make its traditional "flash" count of East Liverpool mayoralty returns as soon as the polls close. Precinct staffs will count the Republican and Democratic mayoralty figures first, then phone the totals immediately to the Election Board. The "flash count" usually is finished in less than an hour after the polls close.

The Election Board's staff expects countywide returns will be complete comparatively early tonight, probably well before midnight.

In the comparable election in 1965, all returns had arrived at the board's office at 11 p. m. and the entire unofficial count was completed at 11:30. East Liverpool totals were complete at 10:30.

In the 1961 primaries, when only 101 county precincts were involved, the complete, unofficial count was finished at 10 p.m.

The fact the polls close at 6:30 tonight, instead of 7:30 as in the past, also will help in an early completion of the count.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

Onward And Upward With Wolper

The American Dream is not dead. Not while there's a David L. Wolper.

Who else could start a production company in a small room of a Sunset Blvd. office building in 1958 and nine years later — the multimillions we're not even counting — have three important series on the three national television networks?

Who else but Wolper? And where else but America?

THE ASTONISHING thing is that the networks once froze out Wolper and that he smashed through not in the strictly entertainment sector but in the tough, news-oriented actuality area, which traditionally has been jealously guarded against interlopers by the network news departments.

The latest coup of Wolper Productions is the signing of the American Iron and Steel Institute as sponsor, NBC as network and astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and man's great explorations for a series of at least eight one-hour programs.

The first, on Henry M. Stanley's search for David Livingstone in Africa will be telecast next Jan. 11.

OTHER SHOWS will be on Capt. James Cook's Pacific Ocean explorations and Roald Amundson's expedition to the North Pole.

The Wolper series on the other networks are the continuing National Geographic specials on CBS and next season's series on "The Undersea World of Jacques-Yves Cousteau" on ABC.

The most recent commitment was arrived at after the Wolper organization brought the idea and the ideal man for it — Colonel Glenn is the most photogenic, articulate and communicative of Americas astronauts — to NBC News, which turned down the package. Thereupon the programming side of NBC took on the series.

It is this back door to the networks, this gap in network structure, of which Wolper has taken advantage.

THE NEWS departments — except in very special projects of their own men, like the Michelangelo of Lou Hazam or the Leonardo da Vinci of John H. Secondari — lately have done little in the feature, cultural or soft-news areas.

These are the most saleable commodities in reality programming. On the other hand, the entertainment programmers have shied away from them, feeling that actualities are in the news domain.

What has happened is that Wolper has become the dominant actuality programmer in network television. Only ABC's Africa project rivals Wolper's three big series.

MORE IMPORTANT to the viewer is that Wolper productions consistently have grown in quality. From the stock footage of "The Race for Space" nine years ago to the special global underwater shooting for the Cousteau series of 12 one-hour specials is a world of experience, growth and professionalism.

It may be that the Gallery of Modern Art's tribute to Wolper last year was a bit premature. His major work is still ahead.

At the networks, the news departments no doubt will feel the effects of this erosion of their once-tightly-held territory.

As they get fewer documentaries on the air — and Wolper gets more — their budgets are sure to be cut. And if outside producers like Wolper snap up the attractive, non-controversial subjects which attract sponsors, the network newsmen are going to be left with sustaining hard-news controversy — and more unpopularity along with less money.

Meanwhile, NBC has just about come to terms with Alvin Cooperman, executive producer of the recent "Damn Yankees" telecast, to be vice president of special programs. He will be in charge of the explorations series, a function that could have been an NBC News executive's.

Officers Check Story Of Assault On Local Woman

Police today continued an investigation of a 57-year-old East Liverpool woman's report that she was criminally assaulted early this morning on Bradshaw Ave. by a man or men who accosted her as she walked home from a downtown tavern.

The first report of the alleged incident came to police at 5:16 a. m. in a telephone call from a man in the 1000 block of Bradshaw Ave. He told Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr. a woman knocked at his door and reported two men had attacked her. Patrolmen Dwight Garvey and Paul Blevins arrived at the scene two minutes later and began a search of the area.

Lt. Burson said most of the details furnished by the woman were contradictory or incoherent, but he noted she was intoxicated at the time she made the report.

She named three different taverns as the spot she left at closing time. She could not name the time of the assault and the number of men involved ranged from one to five, the officer said. The place of the alleged assault was reported variously as "in a car" and "on the sidewalk." The woman was taken to City Hospital for examination.

Field Named In Honor Of Ex-Area Resident

The new athletic field at Meadowbrook High School, Richmond, Va., has been dedicated and named the Mack D. Moore Memorial Stadium in honor of Meadowbrook's first principal who died Oct. 29, 1966, after suffering a heart attack. He had served for three years.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Moore of Route 2, near Chester, who attended the exercise and also visited their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mack D. (Elsie) Moore, who lives at Chester, Va.

Contributions to a scholarship fund in memory of Mr. Moore already have amounted to more than $1,000. The scholarship will be known as the Mac D. Moore Memorial Scholarship.

A seven-member committee is setting up the criteria for selecting the person to receive the scholarship. Only the interest from the principal will be used. The scholarship, therefore, will continue each year and will be given to a senior at the high school. The widow is the only permanent member of the committee.

Mr. Moore was active in a number of civic organizations as well as the local, state, and national education associations. In 1962-63, he was elected president of the Chesterfield Education Association and through the years he served on many VEA committees. He was the first member of the Meadowbrook PTA to receive a life membership in the state organization.

Elvis Presley's Honeymooning With Bride, 21

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Elvis Presley, who waited to marry until he was 32 and a millionaire, was honeymooning today with his 21-year-old bride.

"Well, I guess it was about time," Presley joked later.

"With the life I had, I decided it would be best to wait. You know, all of the shows and record engagements."

After parlaying a guitar and a hip-swinging rock 'n' roll style into a fabulous motion picture and record career, Presley met Miss Beaulieu in Germany when he was a drafted soldier in 1959.

Supreme Court Justice David Zenoff of Nevada performed the wedding ceremony before 14 guests in a Las Vegas hotel suite. Later, the newlyweds held a champagne breakfast for 100 guests.

By chartered plane, the Presleys returned to Palm Springs where they have a $500,000 hillside home.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

Onward And Upward With Wolper

The American Dream is not dead. Not while there's a David L. Wolper.

Who else could start a production company in a small room of a Sunset Blvd. office building in 1958 and nine years later — the multimillions we're not even counting — have three important series on the three national television networks?

Who else but Wolper? And where else but America?

THE ASTONISHING thing is that the networks once froze out Wolper and that he smashed through not in the strictly entertainment sector but in the tough, news-oriented actuality area, which traditionally has been jealously guarded against interlopers by the network news departments.

The latest coup of Wolper Productions is the signing of the American Iron and Steel Institute as sponsor, NBC as network and astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and man's great explorations for a series of at least eight one-hour programs.

The first, on Henry M. Stanley's search for David Livingstone in Africa will be telecast next Jan. 11.

OTHER SHOWS will be on Capt. James Cook's Pacific Ocean explorations and Roald Amundson's expedition to the North Pole.

The Wolper series on the other networks are the continuing National Geographic specials on CBS and next season's series on "The Undersea World of Jacques-Yves Cousteau" on ABC.

The most recent commitment was arrived at after the Wolper organization brought the idea and the ideal man for it — Colonel Glenn is the most photogenic, articulate and communicative of Americas astronauts — to NBC News, which turned down the package. Thereupon the programming side of NBC took on the series.

It is this back door to the networks, this gap in network structure, of which Wolper has taken advantage.

THE NEWS departments — except in very special projects of their own men, like the Michelangelo of Lou Hazam or the Leonardo da Vinci of John H. Secondari — lately have done little in the feature, cultural or soft-news areas.

These are the most saleable commodities in reality programming. On the other hand, the entertainment programmers have shied away from them, feeling that actualities are in the news domain.

What has happened is that Wolper has become the dominant actuality programmer in network television. Only ABC's Africa project rivals Wolper's three big series.

MORE IMPORTANT to the viewer is that Wolper productions consistently have grown in quality. From the stock footage of "The Race for Space" nine years ago to the special global underwater shooting for the Cousteau series of 12 one-hour specials is a world of experience, growth and professionalism.

It may be that the Gallery of Modern Art's tribute to Wolper last year was a bit premature. His major work is still ahead.

At the networks, the news departments no doubt will feel the effects of this erosion of their once-tightly-held territory.

As they get fewer documentaries on the air — and Wolper gets more — their budgets are sure to be cut. And if outside producers like Wolper snap up the attractive, non-controversial subjects which attract sponsors, the network newsmen are going to be left with sustaining hard-news controversy — and more unpopularity along with less money.

Meanwhile, NBC has just about come to terms with Alvin Cooperman, executive producer of the recent "Damn Yankees" telecast, to be vice president of special programs. He will be in charge of the explorations series, a function that could have been an NBC News executive's.

2 Cleveland Shootings Ruled As Homicide

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two East Side shootings were ruled homicide by the coroner's office Monday, raising the city's homicide rate to more than double of last year at this time, 63 to 30.

Harold Brown, 33, was charged with second-degree murder in the death of John Pinkston, 21, shot in the chest at a street corner. Robert Dixon, 23, was charged with first-degree manslaughter in the shooting of his nephew, Charles Dixon, 18, who tried to intervene in an argument between his uncle and another man behind a gas station.

World's strongest creature is the ant, said to be capable of picking up a load 50 times heavier than itself.

Officers Check Story Of Assault On Local Woman

Police today continued an investigation of a 57-year-old East Liverpool woman's report that she was criminally assaulted early this morning on Bradshaw Ave. by a man or men who accosted her as she walked home from a downtown tavern.

The first report of the alleged incident came to police at 5:16 a. m. in a telephone call from a man in the 1000 block of Bradshaw Ave. He told Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr. a woman knocked at his door and reported two men had attacked her. Patrolmen Dwight Garvey and Paul Blevins arrived at the scene two minutes later and began a search of the area.

Lt. Burson said most of the details furnished by the woman were contradictory or incoherent, but he noted she was intoxicated at the time she made the report.

She named three different taverns as the spot she left at closing time. She could not name the time of the assault and the number of men involved ranged from one to five, the officer said. The place of the alleged assault was reported variously as "in a car" and "on the sidewalk." The woman was taken to City Hospital for examination.

Field Named In Honor Of Ex-Area Resident

The new athletic field at Meadowbrook High School, Richmond, Va., has been dedicated and named the Mack D. Moore Memorial Stadium in honor of Meadowbrook's first principal who died Oct. 29, 1966, after suffering a heart attack. He had served for three years.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Moore of Route 2, near Chester, who attended the exercise and also visited their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mack D. (Elsie) Moore, who lives at Chester, Va.

Contributions to a scholarship fund in memory of Mr. Moore already have amounted to more than $1,000. The scholarship will be known as the Mac D. Moore Memorial Scholarship.

A seven-member committee is setting up the criteria for selecting the person to receive the scholarship. Only the interest from the principal will be used. The scholarship, therefore, will continue each year and will be given to a senior at the high school. The widow is the only permanent member of the committee.

Mr. Moore was active in a number of civic organizations as well as the local, state, and national education associations. In 1962-63, he was elected president of the Chesterfield Eduation Association and through the years he served on many VEA committees. He was the first member of the Meadowbrook PTA to receive a life membership in the state organization.

Elvis Presley's Honeymooning With Bride, 21

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Elvis Presley, who waited to marry until he was 32 and a millionaire, was honeymooning today with his 21-year-old bride.

"Well, I guess it was about time," Presley joked later.

"With the life I had, I decided it would be best to wait. You know, all of the shows and record engagements."

After parlaying a guitar and a hip-swinging rock 'n' roll style into a fabulous motion picture and record career, Presley met Miss Beaulieu in Germany when he was a drafted soldier in 1959.

Supreme Court Justice David Zenoff of Nevada performed the wedding ceremony before 14 guests in a Las Vegas hotel suite. Later, the newlyweds held a champagne breakfast for 100 guests.

By chartered plane, the Presleys returned to Palm Springs where they have a $500,000 hillside home.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Last summer our daughter started to smoke at age 16. I hated to see that lovely girl with a cigarette in her mouth and I told her so.

She ignored my request that she stop. I decided to take away her allowance and I did. She later convinced me that she needed money for necessities, so I restored part of her allowance.

Finally I told her if she didn't stop smoking I would give her only one year of college. She continued to smoke. Last week I announced, "Either quit smoking or you will get no college." Yesterday I caught her smoking and now I must make good my threat.

The girl is bright and talented. I'm working full time to send our older daughter to college and would have to continue to work to send this one. Their father never made enough money for extras.

I say if smoking is more important to this girl than college, I am a fool to work to put her through. What do you say? — HEARTSICK MOTHER.

Dear Mother: In an attempt to win this battle you have gone out on a limb and sawed yourself off. Moreover, you have violated two cardinal rules for rearing children: (1) Don't promise or threaten that which you don't mean to deliver, (2) Make sure the punishment fits the crime.

Unfortunately, your daughter is using cigarettes as an expression of rebellion — a symbol of her independence. But you won't solve that problem by denying her an education.

Go to her and say: "I am opposed to your smoking because it is damaging to your health, it is dirty habit and it is an expensive habit. I withdraw all threats, however, and I leave the decision up to you."

Swimsuit Nightmare

Dear Ann: I was amused by your reply to the modest woman who objected to saleswomen's intruding when she was stripped down to the altogether trying on girdles and brassiers. You were right when you said it was awfully hard work for a saleswoman to stuff a 44 backside into a size 38 girdle.

My Cross was bathing suits. Sylph myself, I was overly sympathetic to my heftier customers. But I was astonished at how unrealistic they were about their figures.

Many women needed my help to get into those swim suits because they insisted on buying suits which were two sizes too small. I often wondered who stuffed them in after they left the store.

Why didn't you suggest the most obvious solution to the problem, Ann? If a customer told me she didn't need help I did not try to help her. I merely wrote up the sale when she came out of the fitting room and handed me the garments. — NO BARGER INNER.

Dear No Barger: Some of us fail to see a solution because it is so obvious. Thank you for pointing out something which I should have seen myself.

Confidentially

To Can't Believe It: Why are you surprised? It is no secret that many people live a lifetime together, and even rear families, but they never communicate in any meaningful sense. Their lives run parallel but never meet at a given point.

This is the type of relationship you had with your husband.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: When fixing instant rice to go with a boiled chicken . . . instead of using water, try using some of that chicken broth!

It is the bestest . . .

DEAR HELOISE: Many eyeglass cases are very beautiful and an extra one comes in very handy.

Put your nail file, clippers, small embroidery scissors, a few bobby pins, a threaded needle, etc., in one of these cases.

Close it and you will have a lovely utility case to carry in your handbag.

E.I.

DEAR HELOISE: On a rainy day when your child is sick and unable to play outside, give him paper, pencil, crayons and an assortment of cookie cutters. He can draw around the cookie cutters, add faces or color the pictures using his own imagination.

There isn't much mess and he is kept busy, but still.

MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: I love flowered or striped bed linens, and up until now I had never thought to buy two matching bottom contour sheets since they usually wear out first.

Now when the matching bottom contour sheet wears out, I buy plain white ones and am still able to continue using my fancy top sheets and pillow cases.

MRS. ALBERT SMITH.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: If you use a soup spoon instead of serving spoon in your bowls at dinner time, you will be surprised how many less calories you get upon your plate!

Almost everybody dips so many spoonsful of something when serving themselves.

The weight loss is more than you will ever realize. . . .

DOCTOR.

DEAR DOCTOR: I never realized how much more gravy (and I am laughing) that a serving spoon held than the vegetable spoon did.

I tried this three nights in a row on my family and they didn't even notice the difference.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Everyone likes to save 5 or 10 minutes working time when they can.

I did it by putting a cardboard divider in my clothes hamper, putting the white things on one said and the colored ones on the other.

MRS. G. SCHIFF.

DEAR HELOISE: I have just taken up embroidering and this is the way I keep my thread:

On the inside of the bottles I put the labels that tell the color and number.

Also, the loose ends of the thread fit under the snap-on lid and don't get lost or tangled.

GAIL.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever try mixing a slice of bread soaked in milk in bulk pork sausage?

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Last summer our daughter started to smoke at age 16. I hated to see that lovely girl with a cigarette in her mouth and I told her so.

She ignored my request that she stop. I decided to take away her allowance and I did. She later convinced me that she needed money for necessities, so I restored part of her allowance.

Finally I told her if she didn't stop smoking I would give her only one year of college. She continued to smoke. Last week I announced, "Either quit smoking or you will get no college." Yesterday I caught her smoking and now I must make good my threat.

The girl is bright and talented. I'm working full time to send our older daughter to college and would have to continue to work to send this one. Their father never made enough money for extras.

I say if smoking is more important to this girl than college, I am a fool to work to put her through. What do you say? — HEARTSICK MOTHER.

Dear Mother: In an attempt to win this battle you have gone out on a limb and sawed yourself off. Moreover, you have violated two cardinal rules for rearing children: (1) Don't promise or threaten that which you don't mean to deliver, (2) Make sure the punishment fits the crime.

Unfortunately, your daughter is using cigarettes as an expression of rebellion — a symbol of her independence. But you won't solve that problem by denying her an education.

Go to her and say: "I am opposed to your smoking because it is damaging to your health, it is dirty habit and it is an expensive habit. I withdraw all threats, however, and I leave the decision up to you."

Swimsuit Nightmare

Dear Ann: I was amused by your reply to the modest woman who objected to saleswomen's intruding when she was stripped down to the altogether trying on girdles and brassiers. You were right when you said it was awfully hard work for a saleswoman to stuff a 44 backside into a size 38 girdle.

My Cross was bathing suits. Sylph myself, I was overly sympathetic to my heftier customers. But I was astonished at how unrealistic they were about their figures.

Many women needed my help to get into those swim suits because they insisted on buying suits which were two sizes too small. I often wondered who stuffed them in after they left the store.

Why didn't you suggest the most obvious solution to the problem, Ann? If a customer told me she didn't need help I did not try to help her. I merely wrote up the sale when she came out of the fitting room and handed me the garments. — NO BARGER INNER.

Dear No Barger: Some of us fail to see a solution because it is so obvious. Thank you for pointing out something which I should have seen myself.

Confidentially

To Can't Believe It: Why are you surprised? It is no secret that many people live a lifetime together, and even rear families, but they never communicate in any meaningful sense. Their lives run parallel but never meet at a given point.

This is the type of relationship you had with your husband.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pirates Score 5th Straight Victory; Stop Cardinals, 8-5

Baltimore's Late Rally Nips Tribe

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

That's where Billy O'Dell was, and the Pirates weren't expecting him to be of much help in stabilizing the shaky pitching corps that threatened to prevent them from winning the National League pennant.

The veteran left-hander made a strong bid for a permanent spot in that rotation Monday night as he won his second game of the young season in Pittsburgh's fifth straight victory — an 8-5 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

O'Dell, now 34 and in his 13th major league season, almost was certain that the 12th season would be his last. But that was before doctors discovered he had Addison's disease.

"I had been sick since the first part of last season," O'Dell related after holding the Cardinals to four hits before needing relief help in the eighth inning. "I was losing weight, I was nauseous, I couldn't eat or sleep and I was dizzy and weak.

"I started going to doctors, but no one knew what was wrong with me. I went to a lot of hospitals for tests, but they didn't help either. Finally this past February the doctors found out what it was."

Addison's disease, far from being a common illness, affects the adrenal glands and causes a loss of salt in the body.

"Now I'm on medication," said O'Dell, who reported to spring training nearly a month late, then stayed behind for an extra two weeks when the Pirates headed north. "I can't do without it. As long as I'm on it, I'm fine.

"I feel good and strong now. I don't feel any affects of it anymore. I was anxious to go as long as I could tonight. I wanted to see if I would get tired."

The southpaw said he didn't get tired, but he did get a little wild, and Manager Harry Walker removed him in the eighth after he issued his sixth and seventh walks.

In the only other games played, Baltimore edged Cleveland 8-7 and Boston blanked California 4-0. Rain washed out New York at Minnesota.

O'Dell's first victory this season came in relief when he set down Philadelphia one hit for 5 1-3 innings. That performance earned him Monday night's start.

He was amply supported by Manny Mota, who had two hits and drove in three runs, and Roberto Clemente, who collected three hits and knocked in two runs. O'Dell let in just one run, but the two men he walked in the eighth also scored.

Cleveland jumped off to a 5-0 lead against Baltimore in the first inning, but the Orioles fought back and were down 7-5 going into the eighth.

After Dave Johnson and Paul Blair singled, Russ Snyder came in to bat for Andy Etchebarren, and Bob Allen came in to pitch for the Indians. Woody Held then went up for Snyder and hit Allen's first pitch for a three-run homer.

Dennis Bennett hit a three-run homer against California, and that was all he needed to make his six-hit shutout pitching stand up. Bennett's complete game was the sixth in 15 games for Boston this year.

Boxing Greats Honor Promoter At Philadelphia

Taylor, who's been promoting fights for 55 years, in an emotional speech thanked "all of you who have been my friends for many years and who have taken the time to come here and be with me."

Robinson said it was under Taylor that he was able to develop into a champion and Dempsey recalled that Taylor promoted his fight here against Gene Tunney in 1926.

Taylor Reportedly Signed By Saints For $100,000

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A New Orleans sportscaster says Jimmy Taylor has signed a contract for $100,000 to play with the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League.

Neither Taylor nor officials of the Saints could be reached for comment on the report by Hap Glaudi of WWL-TV Monday night.

Taylor, 31, a star at Louisiana State University in 1957, has played his entire professional career with the Green Bay Packers.

Taylor became a free agent Monday when the Packers refused to meet his salary demands. However, according to a source here, he cannot officially talk to any other NFL club until official notification is received of his free-agent status.

Glaudi said Taylor's signing would be announced in three or four days after approval is given by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

There remains one formality —the Packers have to release Taylor and the talk here has it that Green Bay's Vince Lombardi plans to ask for a big chunk of dough for the release.

New Orleans got Paul Hornung in the veterans draft from the Packers and obtained Gary Cuozzo as quarterback in a trade with the Baltimore Colts.

Coach Tom Fears has also been doing some sharp trading to get some topnotch linemen and drafted a number of good prospects.

With Taylor, Hornung and Cuozzo, the Saints could have sellouts for their home games this season. They will play in Tulane University's 81,000-seat stadium.

More than 30,000 season tickets have been sold and the first game is five months away.

Toronto Out To Close Cup Play Tonight

TORONTO (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens, facing the loss of hockey's most coveted team trophy, the Stanley Cup, may call on veteran goalie Gump Worsley tonight in an attempt to stop the ambitious Toronto Maple Leafs.

Worsley looked sharp after replacing rookie Rogatien Vachon in the third period of Saturday's game, won by the Leafs 4-1. The victory gave Toronto a 3-2 lead in the best-of-7 series. Montreal captured the National Hockey League's post-season title the past two years.

Toe Blake, the Canadiens' coach, said he would not decide on his starting goaltender until game time. Worsley, sidelined most of the season with leg injuries, starred in the final Cup series against Detroit last year.

"Vachon, Worsley, it doesn't make any difference," said Punch Imlach, Toronto's general manager-coach. "We'll wind it up here. We don't even have transportation booked for a return trip to Montreal. We haven't even tried."

The seventh game, if necessary, will be played in the Montreal Forum where the Leafs have beaten the Canadiens twice in the current series.

Meanwhile, Toronto has goalie problems of its own. Johnny Bower, the regular, has been out of action with a leg injury and did not practice Monday.

"I'm surprised he didn't come out to skate," Imlach said. "I guess he didn't feel he was ready."

Terry Sawchuk, a standout in Saturday's fifth game, again will replace Bower if the latter is unable to play.

Cowboys' Don Perkins To Play Next Season

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys brought fullback Don Perkins out of retirement before he could even start it and Coach Tom Landry was quick to say that he figured his team would be stronger next fall than last season.

In the first place it will have everybody back who played on the team that won the Eastern Division championship, then gave Green Bay a lusty battle in the National Football League championship game.

"The added year of experience and momentum generated by our good showing last season should mean we'll be stronger," Landry declared. "Of course, Green Bay may be stronger, too, but we're going to have the championship as our goal."

But he was quick to add that without Perkins Dallas would have faced rough going indeed.

Perkins is the fullback who had his finest season in 1966 when he gained 726 yards rushing, scored eight touchdowns and, according to Landy, "had some big games, none of which surpassed his great performance in the championship game."

Some pessimism had arisen among Cowboy followers when it appeared Perkins would quit to take a job with the state of New Mexico. Dallas also had to give up the three draft choices to Houston in exchange for Ralph Neely, the star Dallas offensive tackle who was awarded to the Oilers by the courts when he was found to have signed two contracts.

Perkins was getting about $25,000 a season when he decided to retire. But President Tex Schramm of the Cowboys wasn't about to let his ace fullback — a fellow who gained 4,585 yards in six years — get away.

Money just wasn't any object and Perkins was reported to have agreed Monday to sign a two-year contract at almost $45,000 a year.

However, Schramm would not give the figues, saying it was against club policy, and it was indicated elsewhere, including Perkins himself, that he didn't get that much.

Mets' Farmhand Blanks Syracuse

By The Associated Press

Right-hander Larry Bearnarth has been bouncing around between the minor and major leagues for six years, and hardly anyone ever has thought of him as a starting pitcher.

But the International League's Jacksonville Suns are finding Bearnarth will do until somebody else comes along.

After being dispatched to Jacksonville late last season by the parent New York Mets, Bearnarth started one game — and shut out Toledo.

And Monday night, Bearnarth got his first start of the season —and shut out Syracuse. This time he twirled a three-hitter, yielding two singles and a double—all to one man, rookie outfielder Tom Shopay — in a 4-0 triumph.

The defeat knocked Syracuse, now 4-2 in IL play, into a three-way tie with Buffalo and Columbus for the league lead.

Cool Reception Favored In Today's Derby Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Things were pretty well set today as far as most of the prominently mentioned candidates for Saturday's Kentucky Derby were concerned.

That is, as set as anything can be in a sport such as thoroughbred racing.

One area of uncertainty remaining for some of the eligibles for the 93rd running of the Derby was that of jockeys. Patrice Jacobs' Reason to Hail and Darby Dan Farm's Proud Clarion were two mounts without definite riders.

The big decision for at least three Derby eligibles was today in the one-mile, $15,000 Derby Trial at Churchill Downs. Nine were entered.

Foremost among these was the Canadian-bred and owned Cool Reception of Mrs. William Seitz and Mrs. Vincent Reid.

"As far as I'm concerned," trainer Lou Cavalaris said Monday, "he's got to win and win handily. If he doesn't, he doesn't belong in with Damascus and Ruken."

". . .I wish the track would be fast so we could get some kind of a line on him," he added.

John Devine, trainer of Freeman Keyes' Lightning Orphan, also was hoping for a fast track, and said the colt likely would go in the Derby if "he just runs good and looks good in it (the Trial)."

Cool Reception, Lightning Orphan and Millard and Mrs. Elbert Sutcliff's Glengary were assigned high weight of 122 punds. Walter Blum was up on Cool Reception and Willie Shoemaker on Glengary. Lightning Orphan's rider wasn't listed with the entry.

The others were Second Encounter, 116, Kenny Knapp; Sleepy Pat, 114, Mitchell Shirota, Castle Rullah, 116, Jimmy Nichols; Barbs Delight, 116, no boy; Magic Bud, 116, P. Rubbicco, and Betemight, 116, Hank Moreno.

All six were doubtful Derby entries, but a top effort could change the plans of their trainers and owners.

Several definite Derby starters, including Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's Damascus, the 7-5 favorite, and Wheatley Stable's Successor, the 1966 2-year-old champion, galloped Monday and were set for more serious workouts with Damascus slated to go one mile.

10 Schools Set For 64th County Track Meet Friday

East Liverpool, which did not conduct a spring sports program this year, will be missing from the entries in the 64th running of the Columbiana County track and field meet to be staged Friday night at Salem's Reilly Stadium.

Ten schools have entered in the track and field carnival according to Fred Cope, meet director.

Schools participating include Beaver Local, United and Wellsville.

The all-day affair will open at 1:30 p. m. with the shot put and broad jump events. Finals also will be held in the discus and high jump during the afternoon along with preliminaries in the dash and hurdle events.

The finals in the remainder of the events will begin at 7 p. m. with the final event, the mile relay, set for 9:30 p. m.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded for individual events while trophies will be presented to the winner of the meet, the high point man and winner of each relay event.

Pittsburgh Soccer Club Fires Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Phantoms of the National Soccer League named Co Prins, their leading scorer, as player-coach Monday after firing Coach Janos Bedl for what the club called "not coaching."

Prins became the third coach for the Phantoms, who are in first place in the league's Eastern Division even though they have won only one of their four games.

Peter H. Block, the club's president, said Bedl was fired because, "He has not coached this team."

"They look like 11 individuals and not like a soccer team," Block said. "Even though we are in first place, we wouldn't have stayed there long if we didn't make a change."

Block said the move has nothing to do with defensive soccer," Block emphasized. "We started getting our first suspicions in the opening exhibitions games that Bedl wasn't coaching this team. Even when we beat Toronto, it looked like 11 individuals rather than a team.

"I talked it over with Janos and had a meeting with the players. They said they had received no coaching whatever and had no strategy. Apparently he just never coached anyone of the caliber of Pittsburgh's players."

Denison Captures Golf Tournament

Denison had 219 and Wittenberg 220 in the best ball tourney at the par 71 Granville Inn course. Marietta and Kenyon tied for third with 223, followed by Ohio Wesleyan 225, Muskingum and Otterbein 227, Wooster 228, Capital 229, Mount Union 230, Oberlin 231 and Hiram 232.

Three twosomes broke par—Denison's Fenton Davison and Al Lewis and Wittenberg's Rick Cline and Jim Harrison with 69s, and Marietta's Bill Donnelly and Bill Haveron with 70.

McConnell Given New 3-Year Pact

A new three-year contract was awarded Clint McConnell, head basketball coach at East Liverpool High School, during Monday night's meeting of the Board of Education.

McConnell was hired at the beginning of the term on a two-year contract. The present contract was terminated and a new three-year agreement granted, with no change in salary, on a motion by Harry McConville and a second by Postmaster Samuel Brown.

McConville pointed out the basketball team posted its best record in 15 years and Brown commented that although no wage increase could be granted, the action will demonstrate appreciation of McConnell's efforts and make it clear that the system wants him to remain.

Woomer abstained on the vote. All others voted favorably.

Clay's Lawyers Prepare New Tactics To Follow

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay's lawyers prepared new injunctive tactics today in their fight to see the former world heavyweight champion spared jail and a stiff fine for refusing to answer the draft board's call.

A federal judge in Houston Monday dismissed a suit in which the fighter, also known as pacifist Black Muslim minister Muhammad Ali, sought exemption from federal prosecution for balking Friday when the Army ordered him to take the symbolic one step forward and join its ranks.

U. S. Dist. Judge Woodrow Seals said the suit was the same as that dismissed last week by U. S. Dist. Judge Allen B. Hannay of Houston. The fat brief, cataloguing a diversity of complaints, contends that war contradicts Muhammad Ali's religious faith and that Negroes have not been granted proportionate representation on Selective Service boards.

Hannay said in rejecting the suit last Thursday that Clay had not exhausted all administrative remedies. When lawyers Hayden Covington of New York and Quinnan Hodges of Houston refiled the suit Saturday, they claimed that the ex-champion's refusal to take the oath closed that avenue.

Seals said Clay's refusal to step forward was not significant in the eyes of the court and that the boxer's lawyers could seek to have an indictment dismissed, when it comes. U. S. Atty. Morton Suaman of Houston indicated last week that criminal action would be at least a month away.

Covington said the next step will be to seek injunctive relief from U. S .Circuit Judge John R. Brown. If he refuses to enjoin the government against prosecuting Clay, Covington said, then Seals' ruling will be appealed to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, of which Brown is a current member.

Worsley looked sharp after replacing rookie Rogatien Vachon in the third period of Saturday's game, won by the Leafs 4-1. The victory gave Toronto a 3-2 lead in the best-of-7 series. Montreal captured the National Hockey League's post-season title the past two years.

Toe Blake, the Canadiens' coach, said he would not decide on his starting goaltender until game time. Worsley, sidelined most of the season with leg injuries, starred in the final Cup series against Detroit last year.

"Vachon, Worsley, it doesn't make any difference," said Punch Imlach, Toronto's general manager-coach. "We'll wind it up here. We don't even have transportation booked for a return trip to Montreal. We haven't even tried."

The seventh game, if necessary, will be played in the Montreal Forum where the Leafs have beaten the Canadiens twice in the current series.

Meanwhile, Toronto has goalie problems of its own. Johnny Bower, the regular, has been out of action with a leg injury and did not practice Monday.

"I'm surprised he didn't come out to skate," Imlach said. "I guess he didn't feel he was ready."

Terry Sawchuk, a standout in Saturday's fifth game, again will replace Bower if the latter is unable to play.

Cowboys' Don Perkins To Play Next Season

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys brought fullback Don Perkins out of retirement before he could even start it and Coach Tom Landry was quick to say that he figured his team would be stronger next fall than last season.

In the first place it will have everybody back who played on the team that won the Eastern Division championship, then gave Green Bay a lusty battle in the National Football League championship game.

"The added year of experience and momentum generated by our good showing last season should mean we'll be stronger," Landry declared. "Of course, Green Bay may be stronger, too, but we're going to have the championship as our goal."

But he was quick to add that without Perkins Dallas would have faced rough going indeed.

Perkins is the fullback who had his finest season in 1966 when he gained 726 yards rushing, scored eight touchdowns and, according to Landy, "had some big games, none of which surpassed his great performance in the championship game."

Some pessimism had arisen among Cowboy followers when it appeared Perkins would quit to take a job with the state of New Mexico. Dallas also had to give up the three draft choices to Houston in exchange for Ralph Neely, the star Dallas offensive tackle who was awarded to the Oilers by the courts when he was found to have signed two contracts.

Perkins was getting about $25,000 a season when he decided to retire. But President Tex Schramm of the Cowboys wasn't about to let his ace fullback — a fellow who gained 4,585 yards in six years — get away.

Money just wasn't any object and Perkins was reported to have agreed Monday to sign a two-year contract at almost $45,000 a year.

However, Schramm would not give the figues, saying it was against club policy, and it was indicated elsewhere, including Perkins himself, that he didn't get that much.

Mets' Farmhand Blanks Syracuse

By The Associated Press

Right-hander Larry Bearnarth has been bouncing around between the minor and major leagues for six years, and hardly anyone ever has thought of him as a starting pitcher.

But the International League's Jacksonville Suns are finding Bearnarth will do until somebody else comes along.

After being dispatched to Jacksonville late last season by the parent New York Mets, Bearnarth started one game — and shut out Toledo.

And Monday night, Bearnarth got his first start of the season —and shut out Syracuse. This time he twirled a three-hitter, yielding two singles and a double—all to one man, rookie outfielder Tom Shopay — in a 4-0 triumph.

The defeat knocked Syracuse, now 4-2 in IL play, into a three-way tie with Buffalo and Columbus for the league lead.

Cool Reception Favored In Today's Derby Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Things were pretty well set today as far as most of the prominently mentioned candidates for Saturday's Kentucky Derby were concerned.

That is, as set as anything can be in a sport such as thoroughbred racing.

One area of uncertainty remaining for some of the eligibles for the 93rd running of the Derby was that of jockeys. Patrice Jacobs' Reason to Hail and Darby Dan Farm's Proud Clarion were two mounts without definite riders.

The big decision for at least three Derby eligibles was today in the one-mile, $15,000 Derby Trial at Churchill Downs. Nine were entered.

Foremost among these was the Canadian-bred and owned Cool Reception of Mrs. William Seitz and Mrs. Vincent Reid.

"As far as I'm concerned," trainer Lou Cavalaris said Monday, "he's got to win and win handily. If he doesn't, he doesn't belong in with Damascus and Ruken."

". . .I wish the track would be fast so we could get some kind of a line on him," he added.

John Devine, trainer of Freeman Keyes' Lightning Orphan, also was hoping for a fast track, and said the colt likely would go in the Derby if "he just runs good and looks good in it (the Trial)."

Cool Reception, Lightning Orphan and Millard and Mrs. Elbert Sutcliff's Glengary were assigned high weight of 122 punds. Walter Blum was up on Cool Reception and Willie Shoemaker on Glengary. Lightning Orphan's rider wasn't listed with the entry.

All six were doubtful Derby entries, but a top effort could change the plans of their trainers and owners.

Several definite Derby starters, including Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's Damascus, the 7-5 favorite, and Wheatley Stable's Successor, the 1966 2-year-old champion, galloped Monday and were set for more serious workouts with Damascus slated to go one mile.

10 Schools Set For 64th County Track Meet Friday

East Liverpool, which did not conduct a spring sports program this year, will be missing from the entries in the 64th running of the Columbiana County track and field meet to be staged Friday night at Salem's Reilly Stadium.

Ten schools have entered in the track and field carnival according to Fred Cope, meet director.

Schools participating include Beaver Local, United and Wellsville.

The all-day affair will open at 1:30 p. m. with the shot put and broad jump events. Finals also will be held in the discus and high jump during the afternoon along with preliminaries in the dash and hurdle events.

The finals in the remainder of the events will begin at 7 p. m. with the final event, the mile relay, set for 9:30 p. m.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded for individual events while trophies will be presented to the winner of the meet, the high point man and winner of each relay event.

Pittsburgh Soccer Club Fires Coach

Prins became the third coach for the Phantoms, who are in first place in the league's Eastern Division even though they have won only one of their four games.

Peter H. Block, the club's president, said Bedl was fired because, "He has not coached this team."

"They look like 11 individuals and not like a soccer team," Block said. "Even though we are in first place, we wouldn't have stayed there long if we didn't make a change."

Block said the move has nothing to do with defensive soccer," Block emphasized. "We started getting our first suspicions in the opening exhibitions games that Bedl wasn't coaching this team. Even when we beat Toronto, it looked like 11 individuals rather than a team.

"I talked it over with Janos and had a meeting with the players. They said they had received no coaching whatever and had no stretegy. Apparently he just never coached anyone of the caliber of Pittsburgh's players."

Denison Captures Golf Tournament

Denison had 219 and Wittenberg 220 in the best ball tourney at the par 71 Granville Inn course. Marietta and Kenyon tied for third with 223, followed by Ohio Wesleyan 225, Muskingum and Otterbein 227, Wooster 228, Capital 229, Mount Union 230, Oberlin 231 and Hiram 232

Three twosomes broke par—Denison's Fenton Davison and Al Lewis and Wittenberg's Rick Cline and Jim Harrison with 69s, and Marietta's Bill Donnelly and Bill Haveron with 70.

McConnell Given New 3-Year Pact

A new three-year contract was awarded Clint McConnell, head basketball coach at East Liverpool High School, during Monday night's meeting of the Board of Education.

McConnell was hired at the beginning of the term on a two-year contract. The present contract was terminated and a new three-year agreement granted, with no change in salary, on a motion by Harry McConville and a second by Postmaster Samuel Brown.

McConville pointed out the basketball team posted its best record in 15 years and Brown commented that although no wage increase could be granted, the action will demonstrate appreciation of McConnell's efforts and make it clear that the system wants him to remain.

Clay's Lawyers Prepare New Tactics To Follow

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay's lawyers prepared new injunctive tactics today in their fight to see the former world heavyweight champion spared jail and a stiff fine for refusing to answer the draft board's call.

A federal judge in Houston Monday dismissed a suit in which the fighter, also known as pacifist Black Muslim minister Muhammad Ali, sought exemption from federal prosecution for balking Friday when the Army ordered him to take the symbolic one step forward and join its ranks.

U. S. Dist. Judge Woodrow Seals said the suit was the same as that dismissed last week by U. S. Dist. Judge Allen B. Hannay of Houston. The fat brief, cataloguing a diversity of complaints, contends that war contradicts Muhammad Ali's religious faith and that Negroes have not been granted proportionate representation on Selective Service boards.

Hannay said in rejecting the suit last Thursday that Clay had not exhausted all administrative remedies. When lawyers Hayden Covington of New York and Quinnan Hodges of Houston refiled the suit Saturday, they claimed that the ex-champion's refusal to take the oath closed that avenue.

Seals said Clay's refusal to step forward was not significant in the eyes of the court and that the boxer's lawyers could seek to have an indictment dismissed, when it comes. U. S. Atty. Morton Suaman of Houston indicated last week that criminal action would be at least a month away.

Covington said the next step will be to seek injunctive relief from U. S .Circuit Judge John R. Brown. If he refuses to enjoin the government against prosecuting Clay, Covington said, then Seals' ruling will be appealed to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, of which Brown is a current member.

Nervous Breakdown Led To Yancey Turning Pro

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Bert Yancey picked up his first golf club at the age of six and was winning national amateur tournaments by the time he was 13. But it took a nervous breakdown to make him turn pro.

The 28-year-old, who plays out of Philadelphia, but calls Tallahassee, Fla., home, was only three months from a West Point degree and a career in the Army when his illness came.

"I know now that I wasn't well when they released me from the hospital," Yancey said.

"I'd work from five to about noon, mowing and stuff, and then practice," he recalled.

And one day, suddenly, he realized he was well.

"I knew then I had done some pretty funny things in the past. Apparently, I came out of it just as fast as I went into it. I don't know why it happened in the first place. I was lucky I got out of it. With some people, it lasts a lifetime."

In 1962, using money he had saved, Yancy went on the PGA tour for the first time. He played 10 tournaments and never finished in the money. Soon, his savings were gone.

He went back to college for one year and in 1963, took a job with the Green Valley Country Club in Philadelphia. It was a big turning point in both his career and his personal life.

In Philadelphia he met his wife, Linda.

"They backed me for 12 tournaments with $500 apiece," he said. "They had an option to renew for up to six years at no additional cost. They've taken the whole option and have never had to put up any more money. I didn't realize at first how bad the contract was."

He won three tournaments in 1966, the Azalea Open, the Memphis Open and the Portland Open, earning a total of $42,938.

He won the Dallas Open, his first victory in 1967, and the $20,000 first-place check.

If he had graduated from West Point, he would have been obligated to the Army for four years "and I would never have made the transition back to golf after that," he said.

Asked if he was genuinely happy with the life of a touring pro — the constant travel, living out of a suitcase, the pressure to play well in order to eat — Yancey thought a long moment.

"If you're playing well, it's great. If you're not playing well, it's the most miserable existence imaginable," he said.

"If I can keep my family happy — well, that's enough of anything," he said. "If I can do that, I'm certainly going to stay with it.'

Tiny Suburb Of St. Louis Seeks Games

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Champ, Mo., is a town of 50 residents near St. Louis. There are 12 eligible voters, all men, and about 1,200 persons employed in its factories.

If you want to mail a letter to the chairman of the Village Board, address it in care of nearby Hazelwood, Mo. Champ doesn't have a post office.

What Champ has is the approval of the U.S. Olympic Committee to bid for the 1971 Pan American Games. The village was announced as the U.S. candidate Monday.

The plan sounds ambitious for any city, but maybe not for Champ. The village was incorporated in 1959 and voters later approved a $12.5 million bond issue for construction of industrial facilities.

There are about 1,200 workers now employed at factories which produce metal cans and macaroni. Another 2,000 persons are expected to be employed when an electric motor firm opens its doors in a few weeks.

The key to the plan for Champ is the pari-mutuel betting. There are several bills pending in the state legislature to legalize the betting, but the idea has gotten a cool reception from some officials.

"If the pari-mutuel betting plan is not approved, we won't be able to build the arena," Bangert said.

Rare Shark Caught, Placed In Aquarium

The leopard shark, also known as the zebra shark and monkeymouth shark, is said to be sluggish and harmless to man, living mainly on crustaceans and mollusks.

Seattle Selects Guerin For Protective Measure

NEW YORK (AP) — Richie Guerin, the St. Louis Hawks' canny floor boss, has bowed out as a player again and Al Bianchi of Seattle's new National Basketball Association franchise is making it permanent the second time around.

Seattle Coach Bianchi pulled one of the big surprises at Monday's NBA expansion draft by selecting Guerin despite the Hawks coach's announced retirement.

Guerin doubtless will continue to coach St. Louis but, should he change his mind about playing — as he did last fall after retiring — he'll have to play for Seattle.

"Now I know he isn't going to play," Bianchi said at the draft session, where Seattle and San Diego — the two NBA newcomers — each picked 15 players from the 10 established clubs as part of their $1,750,000 entry fee. "I don't want to have to worry about his coming back in the middle of the season. After all, they are in our division."

Bianchi was Johnny Kerr's assistant coach at Chicago last spring when Guerin stepped down as a player before the fledgling Chicago Bulls made their selections in the expansion draft. The Bulls passed him up while St. Louis was able to protect an extra player.

Guerin then switched signals, returned to the active list and led the Hawks to a second-place finish in the league's Western Division.

Jack McMahon, the San Diego pilot, was pleased to land forward Jon McGlocklin, who played for him last season at Cincinnati, in Monday's draft session.

"I didn't expect he would be on the list," McMahon said. "We feel we have a quick team and a good combination, although there is not a whole lot of size. We did better than anticipated."

San Diego picked up three big men — 7-foot Henry Finkel from Los Angeles, 6-8 Toby Kimball from Boston and 6-8 Wayne Molis from New York. Among McMahon's other selections were veterans Johnny Green and John Barnhill from Baltimore, Dave Gambee from Philadelphia's NBA champions, Charley Vaughan from Detroit and Paul Neumann from San Francisco.

Seattle chose another San Francisco veteran, forward Tom Meschery, who also has announced his retirement. "I think I have a chance of talking him out of it," Bianchi said.

Others picked by Seattle included Walt Hazzard from Los Angeles, Rod Thorn from St. Louis, Henry Akin from New York and George Wilson from Chicago.

"We got some good kids," Bianchi said. "Some of those young guys never really got a chance. We had the same situation last year in Chicago and many of them came through for us."

Each of the 10 old clubs was able to freeze seven players, then protect another after the new teams made their first pick. The old teams lost three men apiece in the draft.

Future Newspapers May Be Magazines

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The metropolitan newspaper of the future may become more a news magazine than a media of record, a University of Illinois professor said.

Prof. Gene Graham, speaking before a faculty forum, said smaller, localized papers were beginning to serve people on an "intimate interest level" better than large city dailies.

He said the trend in American life away from "giantism" has begun to affect the role of newspapers.

"We have just passed through a trend of giantism, to nationalization of thought and more than a degree of conformism for which the mass media are in a great measure responsible," he said.

Cincinnati Expected To Name Jucker

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Royals call a news conference for this morning, undoubtedly to name Ed Jucker as coach of the National Basketball Association club.

The former University of Cincinnati basketball coach reportedly would be signed to a three-year contract at $22,000 a year.

Both the Cincinnati Enquirer and WLW Television reported Monday night that Jucker would be named to succeed Jack McMahon.

McMahon resigned after the 1966-67 season to become coach of the NBA's new San Diego team.

Neither Jucker nor Royals General Manager Pepper Wilson would confirm the reports.

It would be Jucker's first fling in pro coaching. He coached at the University of Cincinnati five years and guided the Bearcats to NCAA championships in 1961 and 1962. His 1963 team was runner-up. His over-all record at UC was 113-28.

Wilson said last week, after conferring with Jucker about the job, that he wanted a new coach before the NBA's college draft in New York Wednesday.

Jucker reportedly turned down lucrative offers from both Oakland, Calif., and Indianapolis, Ind., in the new American Basketball Association.

Indianapolis reportedly offered $28,000, but Jucker said he wanted to stay in Cincinnati and also there were uncertainties about the new league.

Nervous Breakdown Led To Yancey Turning Pro

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Bert Yancey picked up his first golf club at the age of six and was winning national amateur tournaments by the time he was 13. But it took a nervous breakdown to make him turn pro.

The 28-year-old, who plays out of Philadelphia, but calls Tallahassee, Fla., home, was only three months from a West Point degree and a career in the Army when his illness came.

"I went into a state of religious fanaticism," he declared.

There followed nine months of hospitalization before the Army gave him a medical discharge, but it wasn't over.

"I know now that I wasn't well when they released me from the hospital," Yancey said.

He went to a golf club run by his brother in Tallahassee.

"I'd work from five to about noon, mowing and stuff, and then practice," he recalled.

And one day, suddenly, he realized he was well.

"I knew then I had done some pretty funny things in the past. Apparently, I came out of it just as fast as I went into it. I don't know why it happened in the first place. I was lucky I got out of it. With some people, it lasts a lifetime."

In 1962, using money he had saved, Yancy went on the PGA tour for the first time. He played 10 tournaments and never finished in the money. Soon, his savings were gone.

He went back to college for one year and in 1963, took a job with the Green Valley Country Club in Philadelphia. It was a big turning point in both his career and his personal life.

In Philadelphia he met his wife, Linda.

And he won the state open tournament, attracting some backers who provided the money to launch his pro career in earnest.

"They backed me for 12 tournaments with $500 apiece," he said. "They had an option to renew for up to six years at no additional cost. They've taken the whole option and have never had to put up any more money. I didn't realize at first how bad the contract was."

On the tour in 1964, Yancy won $11,854. He nearly doubled that figure the following year and almost doubled it again in 1966.

He won three tournaments in 1966, the Azalea Open, the Memphis Open and the Portland Open, earning a total of $42,938.

He won the Dallas Open, his first victory in 1967, and the $20,000 first-place check.

Except for the nervous breakdown, the thin, soft-spoken Yancey thinks he would never have turned pro.

If he had graduated from West Point, he would have been obligated to the Army for four years "and I would never have made the transition back to golf after that," he said.

Asked if he was genuinely happy with the life of a touring pro — the constant travel, living out of a suitcase, the pressure to play well in order to eat — Yancey thought a long moment.

"If you're playing well, it's great. If you're not playing well, it's the most miserable existence imaginable," he said.

"If I can keep my family happy — well, that's enough of anything," he said. "If I can do that, I'm certainly going to stay with it.'

Tiny Suburb Of St. Louis Seeks Games

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Champ, Mo., is a town of 50 residents near St. Louis. There are 12 eligible voters, all men, and about 1,200 persons employed in its factories.

If you want to mail a letter to the chairman of the Village Board, address it in care of nearby Hazelwood, Mo. Champ doesn't have a post office.

What Champ has is the approval of the U.S. Olympic Committee to bid for the 1971 Pan American Games. The village was announced as the U.S. candidate Monday.

The village proposes to build a sports complex about eight times larger than Houston's Astrodome. The structure would contain a 1⅛-mile flat track.

Other sports events would be held in the 100-acre infield. The track would support a pari-mutuel betting operation that would in turn support the entire sports complex.

The plan sounds ambitious for any city, but maybe not for Champ. The village was incorporated in 1959 and voters later approved a $12.5 million bond issue for construction of industrial facilities.

There are about 1,200 workers now employed at factories which produce metal cans and macaroni. Another 2,000 persons are expected to be employed when an electric motor firm opens its doors in a few weeks.

Bangert said he conceived the idea of an amateur athletes' haven in surburban St. Louis in the early 1950s.

The key to the plan for Champ is the pari-mutuel betting. There are several bills pending in the state legislature to legalize the betting, but the idea has gotten a cool reception from some officials.

The sports complex would cost an estimated $200 million, Bangert said.

"If the pari-mutuel betting plan is not approved, we won't be able to build the arena," Bangert said.

Rare Shark Caught, Placed In Aquarium

A short time later the shark was swimming around in Durban's Centenary Aquarium — thought to be the only one of its species in captivity.

The leopard shark, also known as the zebra shark and monkey-mouth shark, is said to be sluggish and harmless to man, living mainly on crustaceans and mollusks.

Custodians Recognize Problem

Action On Wages Held Up Pending Available Funds

The East Liverpool Board of Education was informed by letter during its meeting Monday night that custodians will not continue their negotiations for wage increases until the financial situation of the school district is improved.

Supt. Paul Blair read the letter from Local 677 in which it was stated the membership, at a meeting April 21, authorized the negotiations committee to postponed any further action on wage adjustments until additional funds are available to the board either from levies or from the state.

The local said it will continue to seek agreement on work rules, work conditions and requests for payroll deductions for an insurance program.

BLAIR THANKED the group for recognizing the handicaps of the board and the willingness to accept the situation at the present time.

Both Postmaster Samuel Brown and Richard Smith, board members, extended the local a vote of thanks for its consideration, and the other members concurred.

Smith said the board should continue negotiating with the local on the other items and said the custodians should be commended on their attitude.

In other business, the board approved the resignations of three teachers, hired a new instructor and approved an extended contract for Clint McConnell, head basketball coach.

Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard, a fifth-grade instructor at Glenmoor, is retiring. David A. Coleman, a high school teacher, resigned to continue his college graduate work and Norman Six, another high school instructor, resigned to enter private business.

THE BOARD also appoved a request from Joseph Chontos to be relieved as head football coach at Westgate School. He will remain as a teacher.

David E. Thorne was hired as a high school teacher for the 1967-68 term. A graduate of East Liverpool High School, he will receive a bachelor's degree from Baldwin - Wallace College in June. He has competed his college work and has been doing substitute work here.

The board approved the request of the Pleasant Heights Parent - Teacher Association to conduct a kindergarten class at the school for the coming term.

The board also approved use of the Westgate parking lot for the East Liverpool Jaycee Teen-age Safe Driving Road-e-o May 20 and the baseball diamond at East Junior High by the East Liverpool Little League for summer games.

McConville said it should be stressed that the East Junior field should be taken care of by the groups using it. One group has done its share, but others have not, he explained.

A request from the Kiwanis Club for use of Patterson Field for a hole-in-one golf contest June 10 was refused, since the field has been reseeded recently and will not be in condition for such activity. The board suggested the practice field be offered the Kiwanis as an alternate.

James D. Ferguson, a high school teacher, was recognized for having received a summer scholarship from the National Science Foundation to attend Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa.

Letters of condolence will be sent to the families of the late William Wilson and Lloyd Bebb, teachers.

APPROVAL was given to a Title II federal project for purchase of library books and a Title III project for purchase of equipment. The funds aleady have been approved. The equipment is being bought with matching funds provided by the various schools.

Brown reported on Monday's inspection of the ROTC students. The checkup was conducted all day by an Army officer from the University of Dayton. Brown said "several complimentary remarks were offeed and the office was impressed."

The program was launched this year and this was the first formal inspection. There are 160 boys in the program, the first such high school ROTC in Ohio.

Smith commended the efforts of the teachers in the presentation of the band concert last Friday night. He pointed to the behind-the-scenes effort that goes into such a program.

Brown suggested the board confer with the city and the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. on the possibility of removing the tracks on the spur line running through the Westgate area now that the line no longer is being used.

Brown also questioned a news article in which the North Central Association cited the district for lack of community interest because a levy had failed.

Supt. Paul Blair pointed out the statement was not a "black mark" or a warning, but just a comment by the association in its annual report.

Questioned By House Democrats

Pennsylvania Senate Bill Adds 1,200 State Police

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman said today that House Democrats have some reservations about a Senate-passed bill to add 1,200 men to the State Police Department.

"There is some question here as to whether they can adequately train 300 men a year," the Philadelphia Democrat said.

The Republican Shafer Administration measure cleared the Senate without debate Monday on a 49-0 vote and was shipped to the House. Republicans have slim majorities in both chambers.

The bill would add 300 men to the department each year through 1970.

"It was brought out last year that they can train 250 men a year," Fineman added. He emphasized, however, "we are not against additional state policemen."

Senate passage of the state police bill topped legislative action Monday as both houses returned after a week's recess for the Jewish holidays.

The House and Senate came back to work today. Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said plans called for the legislature then to recess until after the May 16 primary election.

The Republican - controlled Senate also adopted unanimously a resolution that would set up a 10-member joint legislative committee to explore the need for a code of ethics for the General Assembly.

If the committee finds a need for a code, its next duty would be to draft legislation setting up a code. Such legislation of course, would have to be approved by the legislature, as a whole.

Butera said he would request immediate consideration of committee members. The Montgomery County Republican said he was hopeful the members would be selected by the time the legislature returns.

Chief among these are proposals to create a separate state board of higher education and the phasing out of the senatorial scholarship program.

The Democrats last week outlined 10 of the 11 bills. The new bill added Monday would appriate the entire surplus from the 1967-68 fiscal year to the state's scholarship fund.

Other Highlights:

Shade Gap-The Shafer Administration introduced in the Senate a bill that would pay $4,000 to the owners of the two tracking dogs involved in last year's Shade Gap manhunt. A similar bill failed last year.

Point System—Six Republican Senators sponsored a bill to ease requirements of the new point system for traffic violations. For example, it would be up to the discretion of the revenue secretary if a motorist should attend a training school after accumulation of six points or have his license suspended after getting 11 points. Presently, those features are mandatory.

Magistrates — The House amended and then moved into position for a final House vote a bill to reform the magistrate system in Philadelphia. Minority Leader Herbert Fineman predicted a vigorous floor fight Tuesday on the measure.

Auto Mishap Fatal

WAYNESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — Rutledge Pearson, 38, Florida State President of The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, died Monday in a car accident near Waynesboro. His car ran off U.S. 64 and struck a bridge. Pearson's home was in Jacksonville, Fla.

OEA Official Raps School Board Action

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP) — The executive head of the Ohio Education Association has assailed as "another harassment technique" the contempt of court charge filed Monday by the Martins Ferry Board of Education against 88 boycotting teachers and three OEA officials, including himself.

"If the Martins Ferry Board of Education showed as much interest in improving its board-staff relationships as it does in harassing its teachers, the present crisis would never have developed," said Stayner F. Brighton.

The teachers, meanwhile, indicated they plan to appeal.

The teachers and OEA officials were cited in violation of a seven-month - old restraining order that prohibits interference with operation of the public school system here. That injunction was granted in an earlier phase of the dispute which then centered on recognition of the local Classroom Teachers Association by the board.

The boycott from classes by 88 of the association's 120 members has kept this city's eight public schools closed since last Wednesday. The system has 133 teachers in all.

Drivers' Strike Hits Milk Supply In Chicago Area

CHICAGO (AP) — A dispute between dairies and their drivers caused a rush of shoppers Monday that virtually exhausted supplies of fresh milk throughout the Chicago area.

A strike by the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers Union against a single dairy resulted in a lockout of deliverymen and inside workers by about 50 dairies affiliated with two trade associations. The "strike one-strike all" agreement among the dealers halted deliveries to all retail outlets.

The lockout by the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., and the Chicago Area Dairymen's Association was in retaliation for a strike called by the drivers' union against the Dean Foods Co., a major producer of dairy products.

Margie Plunkett of 244 Walnut St. told police a small boy threw a stone which broke a 24-x-36-inch window in the front of her home at 4:19 p. m. Monday. Thomas Webber of Little England told officers a vandal invaded his riverfront shanty about 6 p. m. Monday and hurled property into the water, including a quilt, two pillows and a window.

Charles R. Hull of Westfield told police late Monday afternoon the windshield of his 1962 model car was chipped by an unknown object yesterday morning as he drove on W. 3rd St.

Delegation Files Complaint

Council Schedules Study Of Complaints On Street

Council asked its street committee Monday night to make a prompt investigation of complaints filed by a citizens' delegation on the condition of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., a narrow hillside thoroughfare in Klondyke.

The householders complained that conditions were aggravated last week when a street department crew used a grader to widen a ditch alongside the street. They said the crew ripped out and hauled away storm sewers which had been placed in the ditch by the property owners — many of them bridging the gap between the street and garage doors.

The householders also said that they have had no mail deliveries since early last week because the mailman cannot maneuver his vehicle to their mailboxes as a result of the deepening of the ditch. The ditch is 18 inches deep in many places, they asserted.

THEY SAID they asked the street department crew about the city replacing the ripped-out sewers, but were told the city contemplated no action. They complained there were sewers in the ditch until 1954, when the street was given a coating of blacktop. The sewers were removed as part of the surfacing project and never replaced by the city, but the householders themselves installed new sewers over the years, they said.

In the ditching work last week "the city dug up all our sewers and loaded them onto a truck and hauled them away," one man complained.

"We feel that the city dug out our sewers and it is responsible for replacing them," one spokesman for the delegation told Council. "They said they would put them back if we paid for the sewers."

At this point, Mrs. Donna R. Wilson moved to refer the complaint to the street committee "for immediate investigation." She was seconded by Councilman James Lowe.

"Is it true they removed the sewers?" Councilmen Frank Duffy asked.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey replied that the "sewers" mostly were contrived out of old hot water tanks from which the two ends had been removed. The ones that were removed "had only their tops left — the bottoms had been eaten away and they were full of mud and debris," the director said.

COUNCILMAN Robert W. Sample recalled the street improvement project in 1954 which the householders had cited. He said he recalled that there is a drainage problem along the street because of springs in the hillside above.

Then the motion for the street committee's investigation was put to a vote, passing unanimously.

Paul Zehnder of Fairmont St. thanked the administration and Street Supt. John Cornell for their cooperation in allowing use of the street department barn in East End as the site of the Jaycee's Home Show last week. Lowe praised the home show and called it a "job well done on the part of the Jaycees."

Duffy said he has received complaints that the city's mechanized sweeper cleans only paved streets which are curbed. He said he feels other streets also should be swept, even if it means utilizing a crew of men with brooms.

Reporting for the planning committee, Councilman Harold Maylone said it still is studying two questions referred to it a few weeks ago. They are a proposal to lease the former 2nd St. Playground site for industrial use and a question on disposition of the abandoned street department barn on Lisbon St.

THE FINANCE committee was given a letter from the Health Board advising of action taken April 20 to raise salaries of employes. The new rates are: Health Commissioner Jack Bonner, $460 monthly; Health Nurse Selma Ladzinske, $425; Luella Bevan, clerk - stenographer, $330, and Benjamin Weber, sanitary officer, $425.

The claims committee was given a bill against the city from Judy McGraw of 2509 Woodbine Ave. She asked $17 for damage to a gear selector and manifold on her auto which she said was caused April 18 when it struck "loose pavement left on the street by the water department."

Councilman Norman Bucher was excused because of the death Monday of his mother, Mrs. Pauline Bucher. Councilman Floyd Murray also was excused. The meeting opened with invocation by Sample. President Ernest Lowe presided.

3 Killed, 9 Hurt When Two Planes Ram On Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — "Pull up, pull up," the La Guardia Airport traffic controller shouted over his radio, but he couldn't stop a private plane and a small airliner speeding down intersecting runways on a collision course.

Moments later Monday, there were three dead as the single-engine Piper Cherokee rammed into a Yankee Airlines de Haviland Dove, wedging under the bigger twin-engine craft.

Nine persons aboard the Pittsfield, Mass. to New York airliner were injured, including Russell Pomeroy, 38, the line's chief pilot. None was reported in serious condition.

An accident investigation team from the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington was scheduled to arrive today to begin a reconstruction of the accident.

A passenger in the airliner, Charles McMillen, 41, of Dalton, Mass., said he saw the little green and white plane heading towards the airliner seconds after both had touched down.

"I thought the plane would turn off but instead it ran right into us," he said.

Brown reported on Monday's inspection of the ROTC students. The checkup was conducted all day by an Army officer from the University of Dayton. Brown said "several complimentary remarks were offeed and the office was impressed."

The program was launched this year and this was the first formal inspection. There are 160 boys in the program, the first such high school ROTC in Ohio.

Smith commended the efforts of the teachers in the presentation of the band concert last Friday night. He pointed to the behind-the-scenes effort that goes into such a program.

Brown suggested the board confer with the city and the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. on the possibility of removing the tracks on the spur line running through the Westgate area now that the line no longer is being used.

Brown also questioned a news article in which the North Central Association cited the district for lack of community interest because a levy had failed.

Supt. Paul Blair pointed out the statement was not a "black mark" or a warning, but just a comment by the association in its annual report.

Questioned By House Democrats

Pennsylvania Senate Bill Adds 1,200 State Police

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman said today that House Democrats have some reservations about a Senate-passed bill to add 1,200 men to the State Police Department.

"There is some question here as to whether they can adequately train 300 men a year," the Philadelphia Democrat said.

The Republican Shafer Administration measure cleared the Senate without debate Monday on a 49-0 vote and was shipped to the House. Republicans have slim majorities in both chambers.

The bill would add 300 men to the department each year through 1970.

"It was brought out last year that they can train 250 men a year," Fineman added. He emphasized, however, "we are not against additional state policemen."

Senate passage of the state police bill topped legislative action Monday as both houses returned after a week's recess for the Jewish holidays.

The House and Senate came back to work today. Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said plans called for the legislature then to recess until after the May 16 primary election.

The Republican - controlled Senate also adopted unanimously a resolution that would set up a 10-member joint legislative committee to explore the need for a code of ethics for the General Assembly.

This resolution already cleared the House, so the next step is appointment of members of the panel.

If the committee finds a need for a code, its next duty would be to draft legislation setting up a code. Such legislation of course, would have to be approved by the legislature, as a whole.

Butera said he would request immediate consideration of committee members. The Montgomery County Republican said he was hopeful the members would be selected by the time the legislature returns.

On another front, Democrats introduced an 11-bill higher education package in each chamber.

Chief among these are proposals to create a separate state board of higher education and the phasing out of the senatorial scholarship program.

The Democrats last week outlined 10 of the 11 bills. The new bill added Monday would appriate the entire surplus from the 1967-68 fiscal year to the state's scholarship fund.

Other Highlights:

Shade Gap-The Shafer Administration introduced in the Senate a bill that would pay $4,000 to the owners of the two tracking dogs involved in last year's Shade Gap manhunt. A similar bill failed last year.

Point System—Six Republican Senators sponsored a bill to ease requirements of the new point system for traffic violations. For example, it would be up to the discretion of the revenue secretary if a motorist should attend a training school after accumulation of six points or have his license suspended after getting 11 points. Presently, those features are mandatory.

Magistrates — The House amended and then moved into position for a final House vote a bill to reform the magistrate system in Philadelphia. Minority Leader Herbert Fineman predicted a vigorous floor fight Tuesday on the measure.

Auto Mishap Fatal

WAYNESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — Rutledge Pearson, 38, Florida State President of The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, died Monday in a car accident near Waynesboro. His car ran off U.S. 64 and struck a bridge. Pearson's home was in Jacksonville, Fla.

OEA Official Raps School Board Action

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP) — The executive head of the Ohio Education Association has assailed as "another harassment technique" the contempt of court charge filed Monday by the Martins Ferry Board of Education against 88 boycotting teachers and three OEA officials, including himself.

"If the Martins Ferry Board of Education showed as much interest in improving its board-staff relationships as it does in harassing its teachers, the present crisis would never have developed," said Stayner F. Brighton.

The teachers, meanwhile, indicated they plan to appeal.

The teachers and OEA officials were cited in violation of a seven-month - old restraining order that prohibits interference with operation of the public school system here. That injunction was granted in an earlier phase of the dispute which then centered on recognition of the local Classroom Teachers Association by the board.

The boycott from classes by 88 of the association's 120 members has kept this city's eight public schools closed since last Wednesday. The system has 133 teachers in all.

Drivers' Strike Hits Milk Supply In Chicago Area

CHICAGO (AP) — A dispute between dairies and their drivers caused a rush of shoppers Monday that virtually exhausted supplies of fresh milk throughout the Chicago area.

A strike by the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers Union against a single dairy resulted in a lockout of deliverymen and inside workers by about 50 dairies affiliated with two trade associations. The "strike one-strike all" agreement among the dealers halted deliveries to all retail outlets.

The lockout by the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., and the Chicago Area Dairymen's Association was in retaliation for a strike called by the drivers' union against the Dean Foods Co., a major producer of dairy products.

Vandals Blamed For Car Damage

Harry Nesselrode of 705 Orchard Grove Ave. told officers his 1961 model car was damaged between 10:55 and 11:40 p.m. He filed the report at 12:20 a. m. It was one of three vandalism cases listed by officers overnight.

Margie Plunkett of 244 Walnut St. told police a small boy threw a stone which broke a 24-x-36-inch window in the front of her home at 4:19 p. m. Monday. Thomas Webber of Little England told officers a vandal invaded his riverfront shanty about 6 p. m. Monday and hurled property into the water, including a quilt, two pillows and a window.

Charles R. Hull of Westfield told police late Monday afternoon the windshield of his 1962 model car was chipped by an unknown object yesterday morning as he drove on W. 3rd St.

Delegation Files Complaint

Council Schedules Study Of Complaints On Street

Council asked its street committee Monday night to make a prompt investigation of complaints filed by a citizens' delegation on the condition of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., a narrow hillside thoroughfare in Klondyke.

The householders complained that conditions were aggravated last week when a street department crew used a grader to widen a ditch alongside the street. They said the crew ripped out and hauled away storm sewers which had been placed in the ditch by the property owners — many of them bridging the gap between the street and garage doors.

The householders also said that they have had no mail deliveries since early last week because the mailman cannot maneuver his vehicle to their mailboxes as a result of the deepening of the ditch. The ditch is 18 inches deep in many places, they asserted.

THEY SAID they asked the street department crew about the city replacing the ripped-out sewers, but were told the city contemplated no action. They complained there were sewers in the ditch until 1954, when the street was given a coating of blacktop. The sewers were removed as part of the surfacing project and never replaced by the city, but the householders themselves installed new sewers over the years, they said.

In the ditching work last week "the city dug up all our sewers and loaded them onto a truck and hauled them away," one man complained.

"We feel that the city dug out our sewers and it is responsible for replacing them," one spokesman for the delegation told Council. "They said they would put them back if we paid for the sewers."

At this point, Mrs. Donna R. Wilson moved to refer the complaint to the street committee "for immediate investigation." She was seconded by Councilman James Lowe.

"Is it true they removed the sewers?" Councilman Frank Duffy asked.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey replied that the "sewers" mostly were contrived out of old hot water tanks from which the two ends had been removed. The ones that were removed "had only their tops left — the bottoms had been eaten away and they were full of mud and debris," the director said.

COUNCILMAN Robert W. Sample recalled the street improvement project in 1954 which the householders had cited. He said he recalled that there is a drainage problem along the street because of springs in the hillside above.

Then the motion for the street committee's investigation was put to a vote, passing unanimously.

Paul Zehnder of Fairmont St. thanked the administration and Street Supt. John Cornell for their cooperation in allowing use of the street department barn in East End as the site of the Jaycee's Home Show last week. Lowe praised the home show and called it a "job well done on the part of the Jaycees."

Duffy said he has received complaints that the city's mechanized sweeper cleans only paved streets which are curbed. He said he feels other streets also should be swept, even if it means utilizing a crew of men with brooms.

Reporting for the planning committee, Councilman Harold Maylone said it still is studying two questions referred to it a few weeks ago. They are a proposal to lease the former 2nd St. Playground site for industrial use and a question on disposition of the abandoned street department barn on Lisbon St.

THE FINANCE committee was given a letter from the Health Board advising of action taken April 20 to raise salaries of employes. The new rates are: Health Commissioner Jack Bonner, $460 monthly; Health Nurse Selma Ladzinske, $425; Luella Bevan, clerk - stenographer, $330, and Benjamin Weber, sanitary officer, $425.

The claims committee was given a bill against the city from Judy McGraw of 2509 Woodbine Ave. She asked $17 for damage to a gear selector and manifold on her auto which she said was caused April 18 when it struck "loose pavement left on the street by the water department."

Councilman Norman Bucher was excused because of the death Monday of his mother, Mrs. Pauline Bucher. Councilman Floyd Murray also was excused. The meeting opened with invocation by Sample. President Ernest Lowe presided.

3 Killed, 9 Hurt When Two Planes Ram On Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — "Pull up, pull up," the La Guardia Airport traffic controller shouted over his radio, but he couldn't stop a private plane and a small airliner speeding down intersecting runways on a collision course.

Moments later Monday, there were three dead as the single-engine Piper Cherokee rammed into a Yankee Airlines de Haviland Dove, wedging under the bigger twin-engine craft.

The planes cartwheeled down the runway together for 100 yards, then separated, the private plane's main section bursting into flame.

Nine persons aboard the Pittsfield, Mass. to New York airliner were injured, including Russell Pomeroy, 38, the line's chief pilot. None was reported in serious condition.

An accident investigation team from the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington was scheduled to arrive today to begin a reconstruction of the accident.

A passenger in the airliner, Charles McMillen, 41, of Dalton, Mass., said he saw the little green and white plane heading towards the airliner seconds after both had touched down.

"I thought the plane would turn off but instead it ran right into us," he said.

Effects Are Spotty

Thousands Idled In Ohio By Construction Strikes

By The Associated Press

Thousands of workers have been idled by building trades union strikes which began in Ohio at midnight Sunday, but effects were spotty on construction projects worth millions of dollar.

The unions struck after failure to reach agreement on new contracts. Other trade unions had either settled on three-year contracts earlier or stayed on the job while negotiations continued.

In Cleveland, five unions representing more than 2,500 members walked out. On strike were Pipefitters Local 120, Sheet Metal Workers Local 65, the Carpenters Union, Composition Roofers Local 44 and Glaziers Local 181.

The labor picture in Cleveland, however, was brighter than elsewhere in the state. An estimated 30,000 workers in 15 unions were still on the job. More than half of these workers are members of six unions that have signed agreements. The others are bargaining.

About 2,400 craftsmen in five unions were on strike in the Youngstown-Warren area. They were Bricklayers Local 8, Painters Local 476, Plumbers Local 87, the Carpenters District Council and Operating Engineers Local 66.

On strike at Akron were about 500 members of Painters Local 841, 100 members of cement Masons Local 109 and 400 members of Bricklayers Local 7.

Picketing was planned in Akron by the Bricklayers Tuesday and was expected to halt work on more than 10 major projects costing $65 million.

The major stumbling block to a settlement there was wages, said George D. Martter, executive secretary of the Builders Exchange in Akron, coordinator for management negotiating teams.

"We are faced with requests for more money than we can pay," he said. "With the Cleveland settlements about $2.30 over the life of the contract, workers here are asking for the same. We can't pay that because we are not as large as those in Cleveland."

Members of Carpenters Local 637 at Hamilton in southwestern Ohio said they would start picketing Tuesday at Butler County construction projects worth $15 million. About 180 carpenters are involved in a wage dispute there.

Three highway construction jobs in Mahoning County were among the first major jobs affected by the strike. They are the lake-to-river freeway and two projects on Interstate 80S. Rain, however, would have prevented any work on those jobs Monday.

At Columbus, it was reported that other major building projects in the central Ohio area suffered serious delays because of the carpenters' strike and a threatened strike by 6,000 to 7,000 area building trades workers.

A contract extension between the Ohio Contractors Association and Local 18, International Union of Operating Engineers, delayed a major shutdown of highway and heavy construction at least until Wednesday.

Crops In California Hit By Frost And Heavy Rain

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Nearly a solid month of saturating rain and killing frost will cause millions of dollars in losses for California's agricultural industry — at $4 billion a year the nation's largest — according to experts.

The first day of May brought warmer, drier weather. But the eastern California Sierra Nevada held the threat of potential disaster — unusually deep spring mountain snowbanks, some 20 feet thick.

Sudden hot weather could make torrents of the streams which cut through the San Joaquin Valley, including Fresno County — the nation's No. 1 farm-producing county.

It is impossible now to estimate the damage, says Richard E. Lyng, deputy agriculture director. But he agreed with other experts that it would be in the millions of dollars and said that "the state as a whole is badly hurt."

Lyng said, "Everyone is concerned about the tremendous quantities of snow in the Sierra."

Migrant farm workers have found no jobs. Some sleep under bridges, on levees and on doorsteps.

The State Education Department has made surplus food available to migrants in the San Joaquin Valley so they could find shelter until they have jobs and money to provide for themselves.

One result of the bad weather may be the need for more Mexican workers this year than expected, said Peter Weinberger, state employment director.

Permission to hire them will be sought from the U.S. Agriculture Department "If we cannot recruit sufficient numbers of domestic laborers" when harvest time comes, he said.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is keeping a close watch on the situation, said Charles P. Samson, director of the State Disaster Office.

Federal and state officials have established a joint task force to meet daily and check on the flood threat. The problem will get extremely serious, they said Monday, if temperatures rise into the 80s during the next month or so.

Effects Are Spotty

Thousands Idled In Ohio By Construction Strikes

By The Associated Press

Thousands of workers have been idled by building trades union strikes which began in Ohio at midnight Sunday, but effects were spotty on construction projects worth millions of dollar.

The unions struck after failure to reach agreement on new contracts. Other trade unions had either settled on three-year contracts earlier or stayed on the job while negotiations continued.

In Cleveland, five unions representing more than 2,500 members walked out. On strike were Pipefitters Local 120, Sheet Metal Workers Local 65, the Carpenters Union, Composition Roofers Local 44 and Glaziers Local 181.

The labor picture in Cleveland, however, was brighter than elsewhere in the state. An estimated 30,000 workers in 15 unions were still on the job. More than half of these workers are members of six unions that have signed agreements. The others are bargaining.

About 2,400 craftsmen in five unions were on strike in the Youngstown-Warren area. They were Bricklayers Local 8, Painters Local 476, Plumbers Local 87, the Carpenters District Council and Operating Engineers Local 66.

On strike at Akron were about 500 members of Painters Local 841, 100 members of cement Masons Local 109 and 400 members of Bricklayers Local 7.

Picketing was planned in Akron by the Bricklayers Tuesday and was expected to halt work on more than 10 major projects costing $65 million.

The major stumbling block to a settlement there was wages, said George D. Martter, executive secretary of the Builders Exchange in Akron, coordinator for management negotiating teams.

"We are faced with requests for more money than we can pay," he said. "With the Cleveland settlements about $2.30 over the life of the contract, workers here are asking for the same. We can't pay that because we are not as large as those in Cleveland."

A strike by Carpenters Local 200 at Columbus halted construction on a $6 million addition to Riverside Hospital.

Members of Carpenters Local 637 at Hamilton in southwestern Ohio said they would start picketing Tuesday at Butler County construction projects worth $15 million. About 180 carpenters are involved in a wage dispute there.

Three highway construction jobs in Mahoning County were among the first major jobs affected by the strike. They are the lake-to-river freeway and two projects on Interstate 80S. Rain, however, would have prevented any work on those jobs Monday.

At Columbus, it was reported that other major building projects in the central Ohio area suffered serious delays because of the carpenters' strike and a threatened strike by 6,000 to 7,000 area building trades workers.

A contract extension between the Ohio Contractors Association and Local 18, International Union of Operating Engineers, delayed a major shutdown of highway and heavy construction at least until Wednesday.

Crops In California Hit By Frost And Heavy Rain

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Nearly a solid month of saturating rain and killing frost will cause millions of dollars in losses for California's agricultural industry — at $4 billion a year the nation's largest — according to experts.

The first day of May brought warmer, drier weather. But the eastern California Sierra Nevada held the threat of potential disaster — unusually deep spring mountain snowbanks, some 20 feet thick.

Sudden hot weather could make torrents of the streams which cut through the San Joaquin Valley, including Fresno County — the nation's No. 1 farm-producing county.

California's rain, setting April records in many areas, washed out many young crops and delayed planting of others by as much as a month.

It is impossible now to estimate the damage, says Richard E. Lyng, deputy agriculture director. But he agreed with other experts that it would be in the millions of dollars and said that "the state as a whole is badly hurt."

Lyng said, "Everyone is concerned about the tremendous quantities of snow in the Sierra."

Migrant farm workers have found no jobs. Some sleep under bridges, on levees and on doorsteps.

The State Education Department has made surplus food available to migrants in the San Joaquin Valley so they could find shelter until they have jobs and money to provide for themselves.

One result of the bad weather may be the need for more Mexican workers this year than expected, said Peter Weinberger, state employment director.

Permission to hire them will be sought from the U.S. Agriculture Department "If we cannot recruit sufficient numbers of domestic laborers" when harvest time comes, he said.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is keeping a close watch on the situation, said Charles P. Samson, director of the State Disaster Office.

Federal and state officials have established a joint task force to meet daily and check on the flood threat. The problem will get extremely serious, they said Monday, if temperatures rise into the 80s during the next month or so.

3 Actresses Nominated For TV 'Emmy' Awards

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In television's vast reservoir of dramatic series, three actresses were judged worthy of an Emmy award in the Television Academy's 1966-67 Emmy Award nominations.

Winners in 33 categories will be announced June 4 in television ceremonies.

Junior Editors Quiz on CANDY

QUESTION: What is the difference between fondant and other kinds of candy?

ANSWER: Most of the candies we eat are made out of melted sugar and water. But the way they are made and the ingredients in them give us different kinds. Candy makers speak of three main types. A simple sprup of sugar and water with flavoring produces hard candies. The second type, fondant, is made with smaller sugar crystals dissolved in water, with milk often added. The cooked mixture is beaten when cool, which gives fondant a creamy consistency. In the third candy group are those with more extra ingredients, like chocolates, fudge and carmels. Fondant is often used to make chocolate centers. The cooked liquid is poured into molds to cool, and these centers are then covered with liquid chocolate (1). The word fondant comes from the French fondre, to melt. Fondant can be used in other ways, too. Gwen has made some uncooked fondant (2). She took two egg whites and 3½ cups of confectioners sugar, adding the sugar to the egg whites, beating until stiff and kneading until smooth, when half a teaspoonful of flavoring was added. She is putting a nut into each fondant.
